MEAT PRICE FIGHT STARTS BUYING SPREE

Mansfielder Rush Markets as Packers Close Doors to Protest Roll-Back.

SHORTAGE LOOMING

Dealers Predict Stocks of Beef, Lamb to Be at Low Point Next Week.

Mansfield today began to feel the effects of the meat packers' fight against OPA price roll-backs and subsidies as housewives, fearing a meat shortage, rushed to markets throughout the city to lay in a supply of meat.

Reports of packing and slaughter houses over the state closing in protest of latest OPA orders caused the rush which began at most markets early this morning.

Although all markets reported adequate supplies of meat on hand today many dealers said that they had received only a portion of their out-of-town shipments this week. Shortages in lamb supplies were the only specific ones indicated by dealers here.

Closing of nine packing plants in Cincinnati and stoppage of beef processing in 12 Cleveland packing plants corroborated local dealers' beliefs that there will be a shortage of lamb and beef next week.

Packing plant spokesmen said they had been unable to "make the grade under OPA ceilings." They explained that beef costing 17 cents a pound sold for 22 cents and that the recent two cents a pound roll-back was "the straw that broke the camel's back."

President A. Z. Baker of the Cleveland stockyards said, "the beef supply is being siphoned away to the black market, and government price-ceiling prices prevent profitable operation."

U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft, Cincinnati, said in Washington that packers in his home town wanted higher price ceilings instead of federal subsidies designed to roll back prices.

Taft forecast today senate support for the furious house assault on the administration's price roll-back program. Taft, leader of the senate fight against subsidies, declared that the house action slashing OPA funds, outlawing its subsidy policy and directing the agency to replace its theorists

Harvest Show' to Take Places for Victory Gardeners

Mansfield and Richland county victory gardeners will have the opportunity to show the fruits of their labors this fall at a "harvest show."

Early in September a miniature county fair will take place under the sponsorship of the Richland County Victory Garden committee, John Kullman, chairman, said today.

Date and place of the exhibit is not yet been decided but participants may at that time display corn, potatoes, tomatoes, and other vegetables, as well as fresh and preserved fruits. Flowers also will be shown

Committee members have appointed chairmen for the show. Mrs. H. J. Paulsen and Mrs. Leo Orr are in charge of schedules; B. Hamilton, finance; Mrs. George Holland, records, Mrs. W. Ford, canned goods, and George B. Ganyard, vegetable stores.

Prizes and awards for the best entries will be discussed at the next committee meeting June 28 at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

KEEPS HIS WORD

Arrested On Speeding Charge, He Returns To Post Bond.

Explaining that he was in a hurry to get to Crestline to meet a train and would return later to post bond or pay a fine if officers wouldn't detain him, an Alliance pastor yesterday kept his word to Mansfield police.

Arrested on Park avenue west yesterday for speeding, Rev. William Frederick Miller showed up at police headquarters later to post $16.30 bond and waive appearance in municipal court. He said he had agreed to be in Crestline at a certain time and wanted to keep his word.

New Viceroy, New Commander

Field Marshal Sir Archibald Wavell, left above, commander of British troops in India and Burma, has been appointed viceroy and governor-general of India, succeeding the Marquess of Linlithgow. Taking over Wavell's army command is Gen. Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck, right. The announcement led to speculation that soon a commander would be appointed to lead Allied troops in offensive operations in the East Asia theater of action.

Legal Committee Begins Study of Airport's Cost

The Chamber of Commerce six-member legislative committee today had begun a study of Mansfield's financial picture to determine how the city can finance the purchase of land for the airport extension program for which the Civil Aeronautics Authority granted $600,000 five days ago.

Headed by former common pleas Judge C. H. Huston, the committee was invited by city council's finance committee and Mayor M. J. Locke to offer legal advice before council takes steps to buy land necessary for the airport development.

Other members of the committee are Municipal Judge H. H.

DAM GUARDED

Dynamite Stolen, Watchers Told to Shoot Japs.

PARKER, Ariz. —(U.P.)— Guards stationed along the aqueduct supplying this vicinity with water are under orders to shoot Japanese on sight because enough dynamite has been stolen in recent months to destroy the huge dam, according to testimony before Dies committee investigators today.

Ralph S. Stringfellow, special agent guarding the Metropolitan water aqueduct, told a Dies subcommittee that 350 pounds of dynamite have been stolen from here within the past three months. In addition, 100 fulminate of mercury caps have disappeared from a government warehouse here within the past three weeks, Stringfellow said.

The dynamite was stolen for purposes of sabotage because the sticks are too large for ordinary mining purposes," he said.

DENIES REPORT

Secretary Says Mrs. F. D. R. Won't Visit South America.

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—(AP)—Miss Malvina Thompson, secretary to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, denied today reports that the president's wife is planning to tour South America this summer.

At the Roosevelt estate where she said the first lady is making a "periodic visit" of a few days, Miss Thompson asserted in answer to a query that Mrs. Roosevelt "definitely is not going" to South America.

BREAD LACKING

Cities In Tri-State Area Face Week-End Shortage.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.—(AP)— Portsmouth, Ironton, Gallipolis and other cities in the tri-state area served by Huntington's two major bakeries faced a week-end bread shortage today as the result of a strike of employes protesting non-payment of wage increases approved by the War Labor Board.

ALLIED DRIVE ON BURMA SEEN

(By United Press)

LONDON—Announcement that Britain proposes to set up a separate East Asia command and the appointment of Field Marshal Sir Archibald Wavell as viceroy of India were regarded today as the initial steps toward a major Allied offensive in Burma.

Far-reaching plans for the Burma offensive, it was assumed, were blue-printed by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill last month in Washington during global strategy conferences in which both Wavell and Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, American commander in China, Burma and India, participated.

It long has been recognized that the first blow in any long-range offensive against Japan will have to be struck in Burma to re-open the Burma supply road to China. Until then, only a comparative trickle of arms and other supplies can reach China by air and over a long, tedious overland route through mountainous northern India and China.

Once the Burma road is reopened, supplies can pour into

CHAPLIN, BRIDE IN SECLUSION

Joan Barry Says She Will "Make the Best of It."

SANTA BARBARA — (INS) — Comedian Charles Chaplin and his 18-year-old bride, the former Oona O'Neill, were in seclusion today in a large colonial-style cottage in fashionable suburban Montecito.

The couple's honeymoon haven was disclosed yesterday. They had been there since their surprise marriage in Carpinteria Tuesday.

Meanwhile, in Los Angeles auburn-haired Joan Barry said that she "would make the best" of the marriage of the man she charges is the father of her unborn child to the daughter of Playwright Eugene O'Neill.

LEWIS DELAYS POLICY TALK, POLLS RANKS

Nation Waits FDR Action on Anti-Strike Bill Passed By House, Senate.

THIRD STRIKE FEARED

Union's Only Alternative to Quit Work or Accept Denial of Pay Raise.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—The United Mine Workers and the soft coal operators agreed to return to the conference table today to seek a basis for averting another tie-up of the nation's mines with the expiration of the "working truce" tomorrow midnight.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — While wildcat strikes spread through the coal fields, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, today postponed a meeting of his policy committee for five hours while his aides conducted an informal poll among rank and file miners to determine whether they want to stage a third general wartime strike.

With the deadline of the present truce in the coal fields expiring Sunday midnight, many miners jumped the gun and quit work because the War Labor Board in Washington denied the union a "general wage" increase. By mid-morning, more than 12,000 miners in Alabama, Pennsylvania and Ohio had quit work in protest and others joined the no-work parade as the day passed.

Lewis called a meeting of the union's policy committee for 11 a. m., but later announced the conference had been postponed until 5 p. m. This meant that the UMW decision on whether

LEAVES HOTELS

Army to Give Up 206 to 434 Rented Hostelries.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The war department announced today that it will give up 206 out of the 434 hotels now being used by the army air forces, including 109 hotels at Miami, Fla.

The army, it was said, will start vacating the hotels around the middle of July and complete the moving later in the summer. The return of these hotels to civilian control will result in a reduction of the army's annual rental bill by $4,600,000.

The army said large numbers of air units are now being moved overseas from the stations where they received air training and that these stations are available to units now housed in hotels.

FLOOD RECEDES

Waters Move Back From 500,000-Acre Area.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(U.P.)— The swollen Missouri river, whose flood waters cover an estimated 500,000 acres of rich, crop-laden Missouri and Kansas bottom land, was receding at the rate of one-tenth of a foot an hour today, and weary dike walkers and sandbaggers saw their first chance to rest in nearly a week.

SENATE TO BACK OWI SLASH, NYE

Leader Declares Nation Needs No Propaganda Office to Keep It Patriotic.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Sen. Gerald Nye, N. D., ranking Republican on the senate appropriations committee, today predicted that the senate will sustain the action of the house in abolishing the domestic branch of the office of war information.

Nye made the forecast after the house passed and sent to the senate a $2,900,000,000 war agencies supply bill with all funds for the OWI's activities in the domestic news, radio and motion picture fields eliminated and its endeavors limited to foreign propaganda to counteract the Axis.

"The step taken by the house was a healthy thing and I think the senate will be inclined to go along with the house in its action," Nye said. "The American people have become sick and tired of the stuff passed out by the OWI. They don't have to be propagandized into patriotism and they don't like it."

The house move was accomplished by a 218 to 114 vote for an amendment by Rep. Starnes (D.) Ala., which eliminated an appropriation of $3,300,000 from the bill

150 POISONED, SHOW GOES ON

Salad Blamed For Illness of Ringling Performers.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— It takes more than 150 stomach aches to interrupt a circus.

The Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus went on last night even though some of its star performers were suffering from food poisoning believed to have been caused by chicken salad served at the 4 p. m. meal.

Both the thin man and the giant were ill, and Baby Thelma Williams, 619-pound fat lady, was sent to Gallenger hospital.

O. K. NEAR FOR 400 HOMES IN CITY, SHELBY

Congressman Told Housing Plan Virtually Assured; Program Already Recommended.

SURVEY SHOWS NEED

Remodeling or New Building Work to Be Financed Either Privately or by Lease.

A housing project to provide for the construction or remodeling of from 300 to 400 residence units in Mansfield and Shelby was virtually assured today, Congressman J. Harry McGregor of the 17th district told The News-Journal.

Designed to provide housing facilities for workers at the Parsel Air Supply depot near Shelby and for a steadily growing number of war workers in Mansfield, the project has been recommended by William K. Divers, regional federal housing director in Cleveland.

Divers said a survey of housing in the Mansfield area showed that more residence units are needed here to accommodate the workers in war plants and at the air supply depot.

Under the project, most of the new housing units would be in Mansfield because the need for them is greater here, Divers explained. He said some new homes would be built with private funds while government loans would be available for the construction of others.

Homes built with federal money would be leased to the occupants while the war is in progress and then they would be available to private owners, he said.

Approval of the project would open the way for extensive remodeling operations in Mansfield to make it possible to house more families in existing homes and apartments.

Congressman McGregor explained that government approval of the project would enable builders and home owners to get priorities on materials to make single-dwelling units into apartments with facilities for two families.

Divers said his recommendation had already been sent to the federal housing authority in Washington and he anticipated action on the request within a week or 10 days.

New building construction in Mansfield virtually was halted last year by the government because the city was not in a critical housing area.

In recent weeks, however, it has become difficult to find housing facilities in the city area because of the heavy influx of war workers.

OUTPUT DROPS

Patterson Warns of Danger As Arms Production Lags.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson today warned that failure of war production "may cost hundreds of thousands of lives" as he revealed that output of munitions had dropped five and one half per cent behind during May.

Production in May declined all along the line, Patterson stated, with the exception of aircraft and radio equipment.

Patterson's statement that war output was dropping behind came as a surprise in Washington. Yesterday, the war production board reported that U. S. warplane production jumped to the record total of 7,200 combat, transport and trainer planes during May. The huge figure represented an increase of 1,000 planes per month over March production, the last monthly figure that had been made public.

SHOT IN TRAP

Ex-Convict Wounded Trying to Steal Liquor.

CLEVELAND —(UP)— Walter Ziembicki, 31, paroled Cleveland convict, was near death today from a bullet wound in a lung which he received when he attempted to break through a police trap thrown around a burglarized state liquor store.

He was shot early today by Detective Thomas Devries. Ziembicki was reported attempting to take liquor cases from the liquor store when discovered.

NORFOLK HAS ALERT

NEW YORK —(INS)— Appearance of unidentified airplanes, later found to be friendly today caused a blue air raid alert to be sounded in the Norfolk, Va., region at 2:26 a. m. E. W. T. The "all-clear" was authorized at 3:12 a. m.

Emissaries In North Africa, Algiers Says

Germans Rush Defenses In Balkans and Middle East As Cyprus Residents 'Wait Big Events' While Allies Hammer Sardinia and Sicily.

(By International News Service)

LONDON—An unprecedented flood of reports concerning Italian fears of early Allied invasion reached their climax today with an entirely unconfirmed rumor from Algiers that peace emissaries from Italy have arrived at North African headquarters.

A Reuter dispatch from Algiers said that "strong rumors" were current to the effect that Crown Prince Umberto and Field Marshal Pietro Badoglio had gone to North Africa, presumably to find some compromise solution enabling Italian withdrawal from the war.

Reuter said frankly the reports could not be confirmed and there was not the slightest intimation in London they might be true.

Well-informed quarters here recalled that an identical report was circulated at the time of the Roosevelt-Churchill meeting in Casablanca, and was spread again during the prime minister's last visit to Algiers. The latter version even hinted the emissaries had seen Mr. Churchill.

Pending some concrete development, London as a whole was not inclined to treat the report with anything but greatest reserve.

The wild flurry of rumor and report prevailing during this entire week continued meanwhile to center on the Middle East and the Balkans, where the Germans were reported heavily reinforcing their units to meet an Allied threat in that area.

A Reuter dispatch from Nicosia, capital of Cyprus, said that Greeks and Turks on the island were "awaiting big events." Axis agents, it was said, had made every effort to obtain information concerning Allied plans but had been forestalled by "security measures."

The moves by the German high command were undertaken following reports from Axis quarters of large-scale British troop movements in the Near East.

Nazi fears of an Allied thrust from this area stemmed from the recent closing and subsequent reopening of the frontier between Syria and Turkey by British military authorities.

The German-dominated Vichy radio, in a broadcast of a dispatch said to have originated in Ankara, said that the Allied preparations in the area of Syria include not only troop concentrations but also involve naval operations.

This Axis report suggested that the maneuvers might be a prelude to an attack on islands in the Aegean sea.

Fortresses Return To Rip Italian Isles

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA—(INS)—The Allied campaign to reduce to ashes the main Axis bases in the large islands of Sicily and Sardinia adjacent to the Italian mainland was resumed in force today with announcement that American Flying Fortresses, attacking in strength, administered a devastating blow to the Messina ferry terminal.

Other Allied craft hit the Milo airfield, also on Sicily, while the port of Olbia, Sardinia, was blasted and three ships set afire and communications in southern Sar-

BETTER: Jap Planes Losses In Solomons Battle Reach 94

(By United Press)

ADVANCED U. S. BASE, SOUTH PACIFIC—An amended official report on the results of the greatest air battle ever fought over Guadalcanal said today that Americans destroyed 94 instead of 77 Japanese aircraft Wednesday.

Seventeen airplanes were destroyed by shore flak or surface vessels—which the enemy sought to attack—in addition to the 77 brought down by American fighter planes.

The latest reports boosted the score to almost 16 to 1 in favor of the Americans, who lost six planes. One pilot was rescued.

A Liberty cargo ship and a small vessel both hit by Japanese dive bombers can be salvaged, a spokesman said. The cargoes were not entirely lost.

American casualties were 25 killed and 29 injured and 22 missing.

Pre-World war destroyers shot down four enemy dive bombers during the battle. One 1200-ton destroyer was attacked time after time but was able to escort ships into port after repelling the attackers.

Both Lt. Gen. Henry H. Arnold and Gen. Douglas MacArthur messaged congratulations on the efficiency and courage of the American units.

HIDDEN: Nazis Camouflage Denmark Anti-Invasion Bases

(By Associated Press)

STOCKHOLM—The Germans have built well-camouflaged military towns in Jutland as anti-invasion nerve centers from which highly mobile units can be rushed to any danger point in Denmark, reliable information reaching here disclosed today.

The towns, one of them is big enough to house 10,000 soldiers—are understood to be typical of the Nazi scheme for defending the lowlands, France and the Balkans by economically concentrating reserves instead of stretching them thin along the entire coastline.

One large town has been built north of the rail junction at Brande, where once there was only farmland.

Along with the reports of defense measures taken by the invasion-nervous Germans came stories which indicated that military sabotage by the Danes continued on a large scale—some major destruction at least once every 24 hours, with the Danish police giving the saboteurs passive assistance, it was said.

Sources here estimated the Germans now have about 200,000 troops in Denmark, compared with 60,000 two months ago. They are concentrated mostly in Jutland, which is a forbidden military zone.

Sections of the west coast, where towns were evacuated to permit the construction of fortifications, are being covered by shifting dunes. To build defenses in the sand the Germans removed natural growths which had held the dunes in check and the wind has whipped the sand over the area, converting it into a wasteland.

The Germans have posted heavier guards on the railways, which have proved especially vulnerable.

Despite Danish resistance, it was said, the Nazis still are not using strong-arm methods typical in the other occupied countries. The sources estimated that 3,000 Danes at present are in jail or concentration camps, mainly for underground activity against the Nazis.

Strawberries and Chicken on Menu

To crown your week's news fare the Sunday edtion will offer you a dessert of strawberries!

Pictures and text take you to some of Richland county's largest strawberry farms, explain the special care required to grow the berries, and tell you something about the labor and price situation.

At the age of 67 a Mansfield woman has fulfilled her lifelong ambition to become a painter. How she achieved this after raising a family of five children and something about her unusual painting technique form the basis of an interesting Sunday feature.

"Victory Chicks" are getting to be almost as popular as victory gardens among Mansfield business and professional men who see a chance to save red stamps and beat the meat shortage. Their story is told, too, tomorrow in a feature about men whose chickens may be cooped up, but whose ideas aren't.

* * *

Mansfield is providing for the nation a model program for the prevention of juvenile delinquency that makes "surveys" and "curfews" proposed elsewhere look definitely shoddy. How clubs, youth organizations, and civic spirit have put the program together is summarized for you tomorrow.

* * *

And climaxing what we have dished up for you Sunday is a worthwhile story on the factors which contribute to the likelihood of this city's becoming the air capital of north central Ohio.

IN THE CAPITAL-- By Raymond Clapper

LONDON—(By Wireless)—Approval of the Fulbright resolution by the house foreign affairs committee indicates there is still hope that congress will support participation by America in machinery to maintain the peace.

News from home in the last few weeks, at least as it appears in the press here, has indicated a serious disintegration. The coal strike, the rubber strike, and now William Green's advice to labor to rebel if the anti-strike bill becomes law, plus what appears to be continued griping over rationing, are all disquieting. Do these signs mean that America is about to turn its back again on the task of maintaining peace after the war is won?

Clapper

The action of the house foreign affairs committee is the first sign recently that there is still sentiment in congress for following through to give enduring purpose to what the American soldiers over here are risking and losing their lives for.

Already some of the men of the American Eighth Air Force with whom I have visited since arriving in England have been killed. Twenty-four big bombers failed to return from the last raid on Kiel and Bremen. One of the survivors said that of the men with whom he had played poker the night before only two came back.

Until you have been here it is difficult to visualize the size of the operations that are being planned. Indeed, unless you are here it is difficult to realize what has already been done here—the vast number of airfields, the enormous supply depots which are almost cities in themselves. And then, when on top of all that you see the best of America's young men trained for a year or more in modern killing, and realize the countless tragedies for our people as well as many other peoples, it seems the most fantastic lunacy not to make an effort to prevent a repetition.

Here the war is 60 minutes away. It is even less than that, for 1,300 civilians were killed or injured in air raids in England during May. Some are killed every few nights in London.

This war reaches everywhere. It will be worse the next time, because planes now in the experimental stage which probably won't make this war will be available for the next one. And then there will be no place in America where you can consider yourself safe from danger such as blitz-ridden England has suffered, or from the worse hammering that German cities are taking now.

It seems impossible that we can stay out of any future big war any more than it was possible the last two times. Hence it seems to me unanswerable logic that the interests of America require that we do everything we can to prevent another one.

I believe America has far more power to shape things after the war than we have ourselves realized. The knockout blow of the war will come from America. Britain and Russia have carried most of the load up to now, and are still carrying it, but the extra punch will come from America, without which it is not likely that an unconditional surrender could be forced.

Also, all such machinery as food relief, rehabilitation, and medical measures against plagues which know no national boundary lines, will be fuelled largely with supplies from America. It is up to us to see that in return conditions are created to reduce the chances of another big war.

We won't escape paying the price by refusing to participate in machinery to preserve the peace, for the price would eventually be a depression with another cycle of war. That is the price of a negative policy.

All the American soldiers I have talked with want to get the job over with as soon as possible so they can go home. It would be the rankest ingratitude for what these American men are doing if congress and all the rest of us did not do everything in our power to build the means of preventing a repetition of such sacrifice.

FAIR ENOUGH-- By Westbrook Pegler

CHICAGO—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has been prophetic so often in the past that it would be unwise to overlook a proposal which she put forth in her column "My Day" on Tuesday.

In this essay, discussing the so-called anti-strike bill passed by congress, Mrs. Roosevelt suggests that inasmuch as unions have now been forbidden to contribute further to campaign funds in elections involving federal office, the national government should limit the amount of money to be spent by candidates and ration advertising space and radio time, equally among them.

Pegler

"I think it would be a great step forward," Mrs. Roosevelt wrote, "if the government allowed all candidates to spend exactly the same amount, gave them so much time on the radio, so much newspaper advertising space and so much cash for traveling and actually meeting people. It would really be a good thing if this expense came out of the taxes and we never had to have any funds raised by political organizations except for educational work on actual policies between elections. Even where party activities such as these are concerned, I am not sure that there might not be a better way of doing it that the way in which we do it now."

I believe that this is the boldest attack on the American form of government that has yet been made by any fellow-traveler in the New Deal administration. It is more dangerous because Mrs. Roosevelt is herself a tireless, cunning and clever politician who is the more effective because she pretends to be utterly naive and to have no influence in the government whereas she has made many appointments and has dictated several radical policies received from elements of the Communist front.

One of these was the $25,000 salary limitation first proposed by the Communist party as a platform proviso.

The president hastened to propose this limitation to congress and was twice rebuffed and then proceeded to limit salaries by decree.

In that case, congress revoked his decree and congress undoubtedly would do the same if Mrs. Roosevelt, through executive order or by other peremptory means should attempt to impose the limitations on free elections which she now advises. Thus her proposal is not imminently dangerous but it does show what Mrs. Roosevelt has in mind and, on the basis of past performances, probably tells us what the Communists in and around the government are cooking for the people of this free republic.

Under this plan, President Roosevelt would be allowed, let us say, $1,000,000 out of the treasury for his fourth-term campaign, already well under way, with his wife trouping the country on continuous political errands disguised as war activities. The other candidate would be allowed a like amount, but the president would have his official travel allowance to spend for political tours, in addition to the campaign fund taken directly and openly from the treasury.

Limited to a certain period of radio time, President Roosevelt would be able to campaign for re-election off-the-record, so to speak, in fireside chats and other addresses to the nation on the progress of the war and other issues of public importance, while the rival candidate would be strictly limited. Presumably, although she did not suggest penalties for violation, the rival candidate could be punished, perhaps sent to prison, if he should rig up a station of his own and try to equalize things by using more time.

The limitation on newspaper advertising would be a Hitleresque invasion of the freedom of expression and of the press and may have another motive than the one stated by Mrs. Roosevelt. This limitation would not bother either President Roosevelt or the other fellow, for presidential nominees do not usually buy newspaper space. But the limitation is there just the same, and if it can be applied to advertising by candidates it can be applied to all other advertisers. In fact the Communists in Washington and spotted about the nation in various New Deal agencies and war activities of the government have been urging this limitation more and more boldly for a long time, the idea being to kill the free press and substitute the subsidized party press according to the European pattern.

Mrs. Roosevelt, herself, would still be able to campaign as she has been doing for several months in the interests of the fourth term, subject to none of the limitations for she would never admit that she was campaigning.

In addition to all of which fascinating possibilities we have the fact that President Roosevelt's party has spent sums of money beyond calculation, out of the public treasury, for political purposes during the last 10 years and continues to help itself to the people's taxes to perpetuate itself even in time of war, a source of money not open to a rival.

40 GOVERNORS COME TO OHIO FOR MEETING

Begin Arriving In Columbus Today For Discussions On Postwar Problems.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—The chief executives of 40 states will review war efforts and debate postwar relations between federal and state governments and private industry at the 35th annual governors conference beginning tomorrow.

Governors of the 48 states, 24 Republican and 24 Democratic, were invited to the nonpartisan meeting and 40 were expected to attend as the first delegates began to arrive today.

Representatives of the national administration, including Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes and War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, will join the governors in round table discussions of the war effort.

The state representatives will consider recommendations that full postwar employment should be primarily the responsibility of private enterprise with government supplementing private employment through "worthwhile" public works.

Gov. John W. Bricker, R., Ohio, conference host, will join Govs. Leverett Saltonstall, R., Massachusetts, Herbert R. O'Connor, D., Maryland, conference chairman, and J. Melville Broughton, D., North Carolina in an impromptu broadcast preview of "the states and post-war America" Sunday afternoon.

The broadcast, part of the regular University of Chicago round table, will be from 1:30 to 2:00 p. m. EWT.

General George C. Marshall, U. S. army chief of staff, and Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to Russia, will speak at the state dinner Monday evening. Davis' address will be broadcast over a national network from 10:00 to 10:30 p. m. EWT.

The governors will visit war plants in central Ohio, and on Wednesday, final day of the meeting, a tour of the nearby U. S. army general depot has been planned, with Lt. Gen. Brehon H. Somervell, head of the army supply forces, as tentative host.

NEW SET-UP

State Liaison Officer to Assist Draft Boards.

Establishment of a field section and assignment of a commissioned officer, Col. Clay M. Donner who will serve as liaison officer between local selective service boards in Richland county and state headquarters was announced today.

Until now, local draft boards have had one inspector from the state, but due to increasing work another uniformed inspector has been added. The move was made, according to Col. C. W. Goble, state draft director, in order to provide more assistance to members of local and appeal boards.

Richland county is in No. 2 district, as are Ashland, Erie, Huron, Crawford, Morrow, Marion, Wyandot, Seneca, Sandusky, Ottawa, Lucas, Wood, Hancock, Hardin, Logan, Fulton, Henry, Putnam, Allen, Auglaize, Shelby, Miami, Darke, Mercer, Van Wert, Paulding, Defiance, and Williams.

V-Home Stickers To Go Up In City Starting Monday

The new red, white and blue V-home window stickers will begin to appear in Mansfield windows next week as civilian defense block leaders start checking families for compliance with the nation's war program.

During the next two weeks block leaders will make house-to-house calls in their communities, questioning families on five points of compliance with the home front program.

Families which produce proof of full co-operation with civilian defense agencies, conserve food, clothing, and transportation, regularly salvage all materials necessary in the war program, and buy war stamps and bonds will be eligible to show the "V" sticker.

Block leaders also will conduct a manpower survey while checking homes, listing the number of workers who are available for war-time jobs.

PLAN FOR CAMP

Plans were discussed for the 4-H Victory club camp Aug. 8 at Hidden Hollow camp at a meeting of the club yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Russell Tinkey, Mansfield R. D. 6. Next meeting will be Friday at 2 p. m. at the home of Rita Parkinson, Mansfield R. D. 6.

Declares New Deal Tries to Hide Blunders, Violates Rights of Public.

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI—Governor John W. Bricker told the National Editorial association last night that the government's "war news censorship has been perverted into a cheap propaganda device for political purposes."

He declared also the withholding of news is a "violation of our rights and one of the most humiliating experiences in American history."

The Ohio executive hurled the charge specifically at "the Office of War Information in conjunction with the Office of Civilian Defense."

"You have seen some of the releases of this agency. You know as well as I that many of them have no reasonable relationship to the war," he said.

Referring to the recent food conference, he asserted this country received nothing more than "glittering generalities" as to what transpired there.

"One may reasonably infer that the New Deal simply did not wish the public to realize how badly our agricultural policy has been blundered," he said.

James D. Shouse, vice president of Crosley Corporation, in charge of broadcasting, called attention to a recent supreme court decision which, he said, "deprives radio of all the characteristics of freedom."

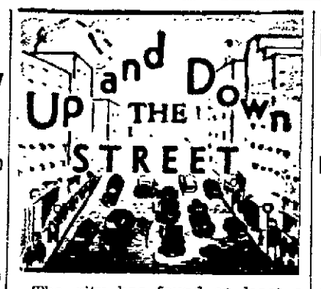
RULE RESERVOIR DEATH ACCIDENT

Crawford Officials Conclude Drowning Investigation.

GALION—Galion and Crawford county authorities were convinced that the drowning of Robert Sargel early Friday morning in a Galion reservoir, was accidental following an investigation yesterday.

Three soldiers from Camp Millard, Bucyrus, were questioned by Prosecuting Attorney Leo Scanlon and Galion Mayor William Annann. Their statements convinced the officials that the drowning was accidental, officers said.

Funeral services for Sargel will be conducted Monday at 4 p. m. at the Snyder funeral home with Rev. R. R. Elliker, pastor of First Reformed church, officiating. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery.



The city has found at least a partial solution to its summer labor problem in a half dozen Senior high school boys who want heavy work to get them in condition for the army or for another year of football is they are not out of school. Most of the youthful huskies are employed now at digging long trenches in South Mulberry street for laying new conduit for traffic, police, and fire signal lines. Although digging through the street in the heat this week has been the hardest kind of work, the boys have done a good job with little complaining, city officials said.

It takes a service man to plug a drive that's going to buy cigarets for his comrades overseas. The other day Harry Houck, Mansfield Navy recruiter, noticed that one of the jars for the American Legion auxiliary and News-Journal cigaret drive had only a few coins clinking around on the bottom. Picking up the jar he carried it around to the various tables in a restaurant receiving contributions from the customers and returned the jar to its place some $5 fuller.

She was promoted recently to first lieutenant.

50 CHICKS DIE

Perish as Blaze Destroys Poultry House Friday.

Fire destroyed a new poultry house and 50 small chickens shortly before 10 p. m. Friday at the James E. Friday home, 415 Lincoln avenue. Firemen were unable to bring the blaze under control. It was believed to have started from a faulty brooder stove.

Firemen were called at 3:55 a. m. today to extinguish flames in a car owned by Weston Cutter at 86 Parkwood boulevard. The car was badly damaged.

OHIO FIRE LOSS SET AT MILLION

Flames Sweep Two Massillon Plants, Half of City Dark For 45 Minutes.

(By Associated Press)

MASSILLON—A $1,000,000 fire destroyed the Buckeye Cereal company last night and damaged an adjacent concern turning out life rafts and other articles for the government.

Fire Chief Raymond Earle said the blaze of undetermined origin spread from the cereal firm to a storeroom of the Massillon-Cleveland-Akron Sign company.

Three firemen were hurled from a ladder and injured by an explosion of flour dust in the Buckeye plant, Earle said. Three freight cars loaded for shipment and four others on a siding were destroyed and damage to power lines disrupted service to nearly half of the city for 45 minutes.

President E. M. Stultz of the cereal concern estimated loss to his firm at $250,000. George A. Cecil, sign company accountant, said damage to the warehouse and to material for the rafts, insect tents, camouflage and other articles for the government would exceed $750,000.

Fire companies from Canton, Canal Fulton and Navarre aided Massillon units in battling the four-hour flames.

Northeastern and south side residential areas and sections of the business district were dimmed out as the result of grounded utility lines near the flames, Earle reported.

DEMS SCOFF AT SOLID SOUTH PARTY SPLIT

Ask Where Southern Leaders Would Go; Fourth Term Candidacy Expected.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Democratic national committee leaders today answered inquiries about a reported revolt in the solid south against the Democratic party—especially if President Roosevelt seeks a fourth term—with the question: "Where else can they go?"

Democratic committee leaders admitted that there were some protests from southerners about not getting what they consider a fair share of war patronage jobs, but added that steps were being taken to remedy that situation.

They also admitted that the major objections of the solid south to Mr. Roosevelt's administration were based on his labor and racial policies. But they refused to believe that those factors would cause a complete bolt of the south from the Democratic party.

They pointed out that the closest approach to a break in the solid south was in 1928 when Texas, Florida, North Carolina and Virginia voted for Herbert Hoover against Alfred E. Smith. But they contended that there was less chance of even that much dissatisfaction in 1944 because no strong Republican candidate has been proposed yet.

The talk of politics—principally about the 1944 presidential election—is growing here amid increasing belief among political observers that Mr. Roosevelt will be a candidate for a fourth term.

Politics—with emphasis on the forthcoming presidential campaign—will be the subject of a Republican week-end meeting in Chicago. Republican National Committee Chairman Harrison E. Spangler will meet with Republican national committeemen, state chairmen and vice chairmen from 17 midwestern states in the first of a series of sectional meetings.

Spangler said the group would not make formal recommendations, but obviously the series of meetings is designed to sound out Republican sentiment on policies and candidates for 1944.

Although the Democratic leaders here show little outward concern about reported disaffections among southern state groups, any sign of a major break would cause quick SOS signals for fence mending in a big way. Even the most optimistic Democrats admit that the Democrats can't win in 1944 presidency without the south, and most of them agree that the race may be close enough—especially if Mr. Roosevelt is the candidate—so that a solid south will be needed.

DIES AT HOME

Mrs. C. C. Smith, 67, Taken By Death; Rites Monday.

GALION—Mrs. Charles C. Smith, 67, native of Crawford county, died unexpectedly today at 5:45 a. m. at her home four miles south of Galion.

Born April 4, 1876, Mrs. Smith spent her entire life in this vicinity. She was the last of nine children.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Dewey Amick and Mrs. Ralph Hallanshead, both of Galion, and one son, Forest Smith, of Williamsport.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 1:30 p. m. at the Snyder funeral home with Rev. Andrew Young, pastor of the Church of Nazarene, officiating. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery. The body will be at the family home after Sunday noon, and will remain there until time for services.

DRIVER HURT

Loses Control of Car, It Crashes Into Fence on Route 30.

Earl S. Beamer, Mansfield R. D. 4, suffered lacerations and bruises early today when he lost control of his car on a curve, three miles east of Mansfield on Route 30, Richland county deputy sheriffs said.

Beamer's car hit a tree and turned over. He was taken to Mansfield General hospital by a passing motorist.

New words come into use from time to time to serve as a convenient medium of expressing thoughts—so "zoot-mania" becomes a rather neat designation of that particular mental ailment.

Tide of Battle Turning Against Japan

HOWEVER much the Japanese may have been cheered by their success in surprise attacks against unprepared foes, they cannot long overlook the vast turn in the tide of war in the southwest Pacific in recent weeks—and more particularly in the outcome of this week's air battle over Guadalcanal, when 77 of an attacking force of at least 120 Japanese fighter and bomber planes were shot down, against a loss of six American fighters—a ratio of thirteen to one.

The Japs were preparing for years to do the very things they have already accomplished in a military way and their fighting power was near maximum in men and equipment when they made the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor and followed it up with a triumphant swing to the Philippines and other inadequately defended objectives in the Far East.

Weakened by isolationist visionaries and appeasement promoters, the United States was in poor position to cope quickly with such a well-prepared and vicious enemy.

Not until now—eighteen months after Pearl Harbor—has a point of "preparedness" been reached at which it it possible to anticipate sufficient Allied offensive action against Japan to make a noticeable dent in that country's military power.

Unquestioned proof has now been given of American superiority in planes and men, if not in numbers, and it remains to attain reasonable equality in manpower and equipment to retain the offensive and carry the war against Japan through to successful conclusion.

Recent events in China, coupled with a more optimistic attitude on the part of Australian spokesmen, indicate that United Nations power has been gaining considerably in the southwest Pacific while Japanese effectiveness has been steadily diminishing.

Military observers express belief that important action is in the making in the Far East as well as in the European theater of war.

This belief is strengthened by the appointment of Sir Archibald Wavell as viceroy of India and the naming of General Sir Claude Auchinleck as commander in chief of British forces in India, which is interpreted as meaning that Great Britain is in readiness for intensified action against Japan and that one of the early moves will be to recapture Burma and open the overland supply route to China.

It may be hoped that no act by any American will cause even an hour's delay in producing equipment or supplies essential to victory.

How 'Father's Day' Came About

WHATEVER serious approach may be made to Father's day, which comes up for observance tomorrow, the initiative must be taken by others, rather than by Father himself.

Insofar as Father is concerned, he's quite likely to be rather upset over the idea of having a day set aside to give him a little touch of recognition and appreciation.

Mother's day is all right with him—he understands that and approves of it. But what's the use of going any further with indication of high regard for the other parent? He's always been pretty well satisfied to take a feeling of pride in his children and to do everything possible for them, but any thought of reciprocation probably never enters his mind.

But, come to think of it, there is an element of equality in parenthood, after all—and maybe, although he wouldn't admit it, Father is as appreciative as Mother of an occasional expression of affection on the part of his children.

Credit for the original suggestion of Father's day, more than thirty years ago, is due Mrs. John Bruce Dodd, of Spokane, Wash.

In 1909, as a tribute to her father, who, after the death of his wife, successfully reared a large family of children, Mrs. Dodd wrote to the president of the Spokane Ministerial association urging him to spread the idea that the third Sunday in June be observed annually as Father's day. The commemoration was started locally but it was a long time spreading over the country and even yet lacks much of the wide acceptance of Mother's day.

A gift? Yes, if you care to give him some little remembrance—but, more important, find time for a little talk with Dad, if you are at home, or write him a letter if you are away. And wear a red rose if he is living; a white one if he is no longer with you.

Reducing Perils of the Sea

A SHIPWRECKED sailor on a raft or lifeboat need no longer die of thirst or starvation. All sailors now know how to get food or drink, even in the middle of the Pacific.

For this, thanks are due to ex-Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, who has thus capped a long and useful public service. Raw fish, he found, contains a fluid which can be squeezed out and made a good substitute for water. This discovery has been officially tested and approved.

Fishes also provide food. The next step was to give all sailors emergency fishing kits. With them are fishing instructions printed on waterproof paper, including advice on how to get along if stranded on uninhabited islands.

Latest addition is a small kit of chemicals which render sea water fresh and safe to drink. From now on all this will be standard equipment for life boats, including the collapsible ones carred on aircraft.

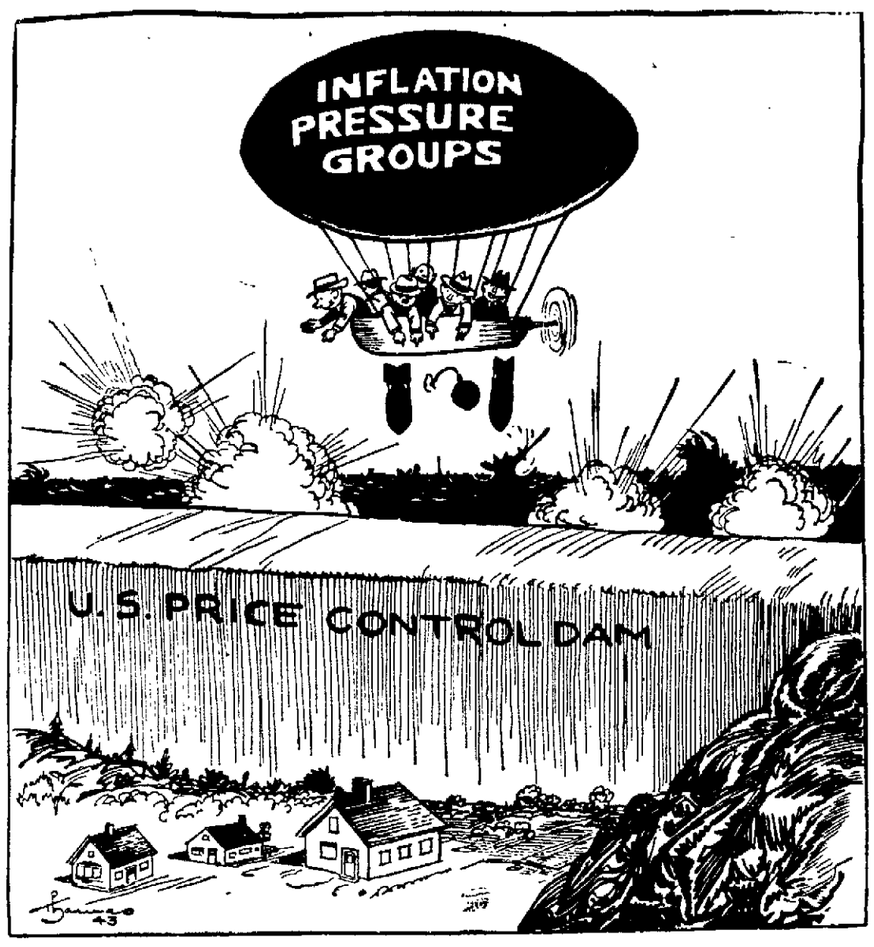
It is encouraging to note that all "post-war dreams" are based on assurance of Allied victory—otherwise they would be nightmares.

A bushel of corn will still fill a bushel when shelled—"And," remarked an observer, "if reduced to liquid, it will fill a jail."

"Great minds," they say, "run in the same channel"—but how about those 5-4 and 6-3 Supreme Court decisions?

Someone suggests that the OPA is really the Office of Perhaps Administration.

ENDANGERING THE HOME FRONT



How Italian Fleet Is Aiding Japs

By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—A naval battle in the near future might easily change the whole course of the war. It must be admitted that such a battle is not likely, despite the brave words recently from the Italian admiral commanding that country's fleet.

The extreme probability, however, is that the Italian fleet will be scuttled when Italy is finally knocked out, not that it will come out and fight in defense of the homeland.

The point is that if the Italian fleet should be entirely destroyed one of the chief purposes of "knocking Italy out of the war" would at once disappear.

So long as that navy is in ports, and capable of sallying forth, it is necessary to keep a tremendous amount of British naval strength in the Mediterranean.

If the Italian fleet should be destroyed it would remain necessary only to keep a force of destroyers and corvettes in those waters, to look for possible submarines, to do one or another of the hundred naval errands of war. It is the old theory of naval warfare that any ship of war is enough if there is nothing as strong as she within striking distance.

BUT HERE is the important phase of this question: if the Italian fleet were destroyed the entire British fleet now stationed in the Mediterranean would at once be dispatched to the Pacific! This is the settled policy of the British admiralty, and perhaps explains why the Italian fleet has not been permitted by the Germans to risk destruction.

It would of course be suicide, and therefore very poor military strategy, for the Italian fleet to come out. It is no match for the British fleet, ever on paper, and it is a matter of record in the naval engagements of this war that the Italians always lose naval engagements with the British even when their strength is greatly superior.

So that actually at the moment, and from now on until such time as the Italian fleet is disposed of, the Italian navy is performing a service, not for its own country, and in a way not even for Germany, but for Japan.

Italy is holding, virtually immobile so far as naval conflict is concerned, a fleet which would count enormously against the Nipponese could it be transferred to the Pacific and Indian oceans. For one thing it would certainly turn the scales in the Bay of Bengal, making it almost impossible for Japan to supply her troops in Burma by sea.

THERE is no denying that the British warships have not been entirely immobile. They played a part in the North African campaign. They bombarded Pantelleria. Incidentally they deprived the air advocates of an absolutely clear case of conquest by air in that episode.

We know from our own reports from Guadalcanal how bombardment from surface Japanese ships in the early days of that fighting harassed our marines.

But the British fleet now in the Mediterranean turned loose in the Southwest Pacific and Indian oceans, would play havoc with Japan's whole line of communications, not only to Burma, but to the Dutch Islands. Added to the U. S. task forces already in those waters, it would result not only in control of those seas, but in very nearly prohibiting their use to the Japanese. This reckons, of course of our rapidly increasing number of aircraft carriers and long range air fighters.

But, the British think, there is not much hope of the Italians coming out for a fight.

Listen World!

When Life Begins

LIFE begins at forty"—said Professor Pitkin, thereby giving new hope and pride to thousands of discouraged mortals, who were wearily awaiting the gong.

But for all its joyous uplift, life doesn't begin at forty . . . nor at any other set date on the calendar. For life isn't a matter of time, but of ATTITUDE. It starts or stops, not by the set watch—but by the pulse beat. You may be senile at 30 . . . or gloriously young at 60. It all depends on your own desire. In short—

LIFE BEGINS — WHEN WE LET IT!

"But," you say, "everyone wants to stay young."

You're wrong, stranger. Everyone SAYS they wish to stay young. But that isn't their real desire . . . (their heart's hidden wish,

ACTUALLY MOST OF US VOTE TO BE OLD.

We don't believe this or admit this—even to ourselves. We're sure we want to be young. But when it comes to working at the job—

WE VOTE FOR AGE.

We're not aware that we're voting for age. We think we are simply voting for safety and security . . . for a cautious, conservative plan of life. But real youth . . . growing eager youth . . . is never "safe and secure . . . cautious and conservative." These qualities come, only when the mind has lost its vivid imagination, its driving curiosity, its urgent hunger for experiment and adventure . . . When the blood has thinned and cooled . . . when the house-slippers and easy-chair call louder than the open trail.

Life begins - WHEN YOU WANT TO GO-GETTUM!

Death begins - WHEN YOU WANT TO PLAY SAFE!

Dr. David Seabury drives this point home in his latest book, recently discussed "Adventures in Self-Discovery."

"Life," he cries, "begins for anyone when that individual refuses to be the victim of any DELIMITING experience, disease, accident, poverty, FAMILY PRESSURE, marriage dilemma, neglect. Whatever the curse, if you will not take it, not accept the role fate seems to offer, you can never become a mental cripple and NOTHING COULD HOLD YOU BACK."

In short, you can start being young the moment you choose to be and are willing to work at the job . . . or you can start to be old the minute you let go and stop fighting.

REFUSE TO DIE! You would battle against death if you were critically ill with pneumonia. Yet there are many circumstances as deadly as pneumonia against which you put up no fight. COMFORT is as deadly as pneumonia . . . ages and extinguishes you as surely. SECURITY is as deadly. Nothing ages or destroys a man more quickly than Being Safe. SUCCESS is a yawning grave—if you yield to it.

DECIDE TO LIVE! Keep yourself by doubt and discipline . . . by experiment and adventure. LIFE BEGINS WHEN YOU HAVE THE NERVE TO LET IT!

Baruch Recalled to Help Byrnes Iron Out Departmental Muddles

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

AFTER the Allies were victorious in 1918 Marshal von Hindenburg said: "The war was won in the American industrial centers. They understood war."

This was regarded as a tribute to the man who was virtual czar of the nation's war industries, Wallstreeter Bernard M. Baruch.

He had brought order out of chaos on the production front. For years after the Armistice Washington officials had a habit of suggesting "See Bernie" when there was a particularly knotty problem.

That was what Director of War Mobilization James F. Byrnes did when he officially made the 73-year-old expert of World War I his right-hand man.

Immediately Byrnes and Baruch struck at one of the Capitol problems which has been hamstringing the conduct of the war—the epidemic of congressional investigations.

Thirty separate investigations devoted in whole or in part to the war effort have been instituted in congress; resolutions are pending which would authorize at least 20 more. As an example of what this means, OWM revealed that WPB Chairman Donald Nelson has been called to the capitol 37 times since late 1941, has appeared before 15 committees and subcommittees.

To spare busy administrators, Byrnes and Baruch proposed that each house of congress designate a single committee through which to channel to the executive branch all controversies growing from conduct of the war.

At Home

October for Fathers?

Fathers who are not in uniform by the end of this year stand a good chance of never getting into one, War Manpower Commission Chairman Paul V. McNutt told the house appropriations committee during the week.

He predicted a leveling off of the armed forces when they aggregate 10,900,000 men, the goal set for Dec. 31, 1943. At the end of this month a total of 9,200,000 will have been reached, he said.

Between July 1 and the end of December inductions will continue, under present schedules, at the average rate of 300,000 monthly. In 1944, it was intimated, the bulk of inductees will come from the teen-age group.

Two-Flag Day.

Auspicious was America's Flag day this year. It found the nation which 166 years ago adopted the stars and stripes in a mood to celebrate victories in the Mediterranean and the far Pacific. President Roosevelt had by proclamation invited our Allies to make it a United Nations day. They did—also being in a mood to celebrate.

In Moscow the hammer and sickle flew on all government buildings in honor of American Flag day, by order of the council of peoples' commissars.

Great Britain, where large numbers of U. S. troops are stationed, was bright with stars and stripes.

Reflecting the optimism of the Chinese Republic, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek seized the occasion to send warm messages to Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin.

And in Washington, a new Flag of the Four Freedoms flew side by side with Old Glory for the first time in history.

Today's Gadgets.

It took more than a year for some effects of the war production program to become apparent to Americans. Items of critical materials dwindled, then disappeared from store counters; in the succeeding months there were fewer gadgets and there was more standardization of non-war items.

But this war-inspired move toward simplification has not ended. During the week the OWI disclosed that the manufacture of hundreds of household items will be eliminated in the next few months, of those remaining there will be less variety.

New Disease.

Seventeen persons in the small, isolated community of New Iberia, La., came down with a strange malady, said to resemble pneumonia. Eight of them died.

During the week Dr. R. E. Dyer, U. S. Public Health Service, told a house committee that the disease is still unidentified. He said there was no evidence that it had been "planted" in this country. But, he declared, "We have heard of some suspicious cases, one case occurring in an army camp. . . . A disease which will kill eight out of 17 people is a rather serious thing."

Tests are being conducted with animals to track down the ailment.

Abroad

Close to Italy.

"The decisive phase is approaching."

Thus did the Rome radio understate the Allied menace to Italy which early in the week attained a pitch of suspense unequalled by Hitler's vaunted "nerve" wars.

Pantelleria had fallen, after an earth-shaking bombardment that completely knocked out the resistance of the Italians on what Il Duce had boasted was his "Malta." After bombs alone had evoked Pantelleria's white flag, Lampedusa and Linosa were quickly taken. Next on the agenda was Sicily itself, a stone's throw from the Italian boot.

British Wellingtons dropped two-ton block-busters on the Sicilian ferry terminal of Messina; railway yards and the harbor area were smashed with no loss to the Allied craft. By daylight American Liberators hammered Sicilian air bases at Catania and Gerbini.

Morale Sagging.

On the northern flank of the Axis fortress, RAF heavy bombers drummed over the Ruhr. They blasted the steel and coal city of Oberhausen, three miles west of Essen, roamed over shattered Duisburg and Muelheim.

German morale openly sagged. Berlin newspapers reaching Switzerland disclosed that civilians were being evacuated from western German cities and the capital itself to escape the terrific bombardments.

From the north, the south and the east, Axis commentators looked for the big blow to fall.

Undersea Gains.

Since Pearl Harbor eight U. S. submarines have been reported lost or missing. During the week Secretary of the Navy Knox declared that these losses have been replaced "many times over."

He also reported "a steady growth of our submarine operations in the Pacific" and by implication forecast new blows against Japan.

While May saw a new record low for Allied sinkings by enemy submarines, and the British Admiralty announced that for the first time the rate of U-boat destruction substantially exceeded the number being built, the United States submersibles were chalking up some records of their own.

Increased to 256 was the number of Japanese vessels sunk or damaged by submarine action since the war began.

Summer In Russia.

Ever since they invaded Russia in June, 1941, summer has been the Nazis' season on the eastern front. The first year, three mighty drives carried them almost to Leningrad, almost to Moscow and completely through the Ukraine. The next summer, two campaigns were launched: at Stalingrad and the Caucasus. Both gained ground but were finally turned back.

This season, the German high command has started no large-scale offensive, only one minor one, near Orel. In contrast, the Soviets are attacking in three sectors and heavily bombing the German rear. Allied observers expect the Red army to seize the summer initiative, launch their first major warm-weather campaign. German sources also predict an imminent Soviet offensive designed to drive them from the Kuban bridgehead and smash the Orel salient.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The Capital in wartime:

Anytime your neighbors tell you that congress is a slow, unwieldy body that gets nothing done without days of harangue, tell them this little story:

The Naval Appropriations bill for 1943-44 was called up before the senate. The amount was for more than $27,600,000,000 — the largest one-year appropriation ever voted the navy and more than 24 billion of it in cash.

Sen. John H. Overton (D., La.), subcommittee chairman, arose and said almost apologetically that he would like the senate's indulgence "for 15 or 20 minutes" while he explained the bill. It didn't take that long. Fourteen minutes after he started talking the senate had placed its stamp of approval on the 27 billion expenditure, sent it back to the house for minor concurrences, and had recessed for the day with as little flurry as if it hadn't spent a nickel.

THE STORIES about the officiousness of guards on public buildings here are numerous but the prize of all is that one about Vice President Wallace, who is also chairman of the Board of Economic Warfare.

After senate adjournment the other day, the V-P hurried over to the BEW offices at 12th and Constitution for a conference. The guard at the door wouldn't let him by until he had obtained a "Visitor's Pass." Mr. Wallace is ordinarily a most even-tempered mat but that reportedly was one occasion when he wasn't.

THE BIGGEST subject around Washington today among Uncle Sam's nephews and nieces is how to get a half-day off a week for shopping, visits to doctors and dentists, etc., without disrupting the 48-hour week.

If it sounds like such a little thing, note that the president has concerned himself with it considerably. He slapped down the idea of federal employes working nine hours a day five days a week, and closing after a three-hour session on Saturdays.

Apparently the president as well as many other officials feel that the wheels of government should be kept turning a full six days a week to avoid the long delays that often result from the 5½-schedule. However, the president did signify his approval of the half-day a week off. It probably will be worked out on a stagger schedule so that one-twelfth of the government's 300,000 workers here will be having their half-days at a time.

Employment experts estimate that this system would cut absenteeism so that efficient operation would be improved rather than impaired.

Farmer's Diary

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

VERY BUSY

OUR 56-acre farm in the Honey Creek valley is where we live and rear our family. We bought the farm, on a shoestring, for a permanent home. We liked it because it had a wooded hilltop, a slope suitable for orchard, a flowing spring of soft water and four big maples in the yard.

The community was modern and progressive, with good dairy and orchard farms tucked in between picturesque hills. School and church were handy — electricity was soon coming.

What the place needed, in our estimation, was an owner—then a good house, drainage and soil build-up, conservation practices, and time. As a place to rear a family of young children, it appeared ideal. . . .

I was always a teacher-farmer. Our rush time comes every spring after school is out. Our oldest boy, who is 12, might manage a team or tractor but so far it has seemed wiser to hire the plowing and fitting done than to try to get a tractor or to keep a team the year around.

We have been on this farm more than three years. During that time we have planted a hillside orchard of peaches and apples, set out a perennial garden of grapes and small fruits, and kept up the monthly payments on the land. Our trees and our boys are growing. So are our hopes. That our daily record of farm living seems to strike a responsive chord with newspaper readers, gives us much happiness.

This year we planted four acres of corn—hybrid K23—on the 15th of June . . . and 20 acres of soybeans that same week. A machinist friend — who owns and operates several tractors, plows, combines, corn pickers, and threshers — did our plowing and fitting. We exchanged work with neighbors for the use of planter and drill.

We will follow the corn with wheat and the soybeans with rye —and reseed largely to soys again next year. Our land needs it.

Our oldest boy is taking care of 150 chicks—half heavies, for canning. We may start a brood of turkeys in mid-July for the Christmas market. Our two cows will furnish milk and butter, also a young calf for the winter beef. The sow will farrow in August. Our boys will plant their customary half-acre of pickles for money coming in when school starts. We had the house wired for electricity this week. We have an acre of garden.

It's a busy place here. Hardly time to talk. Hoping you are the same . . . and more power to all of us.!

12,000 MINERS STRIKE, PROTEST RULING OF WLB

Third Strike Looms as Nation Waits Action by FDR on Anti-Strike Bill.

there would be a new general coal strike while the country is at war would be delayed until 32 hours before the truce expires.

According to reports, the postponement was caused by the desire of Lewis and members of the policy committee to check the sentiment of rank and file miners back in coal producing states.

It heightened the danger of a widespread strike despite the fact that the WLB had ordered the miners to sign a no-strike agreement with the coal operators for the duration of the war. It was against this tense background that members of the UMW policy committee gathered.

The UMW decision not only holds the key to peace in the war-vital coal fields, but also may rock the national labor front. The fiery labor leader and the 200-man governing body of the union had only two alternatives:

1. To accept the War Labor Board's denial of a pay raise and drop their three-month, strike-ridden battle to obtain more money for the miners to offset higher living costs.

2. To reject the government's ultimatum and permit another walkout to occur when the current strike truce expires tomorrow.

The nation, meanwhile, waited to learn whether President Roosevelt will sign the drastic Smith-Connally anti-strike bill during the day. If the president signs the measure it will take effect immediately, putting its powers to life before the coal strike truce ends. The bill imposes penalties of one year imprisonment, $5,000 fine or both on anyone instigating or encouraging a walkout in government-operated plants or mines.

If the measure is made law and Lewis should allow another strike in the coal fields he would face the harsh penalties.

Mr. Roosevelt may brush aside the CIO-AFL demands that he veto the bill and sign the legislation in an effort to thwart another coal strike and its attendant threat to war production. The two big labor organizations have threatened to withdraw their members from the WLB in that event.

Such a withdrawal presages the collapse of the board as an arbiter of war-time labor disputes and the spread of labor unrest.

Eight labor members of the WLB dissented from the board's action of refusing the miners payment for underground travel but joined in a warning to Lewis against another strike.

"We agree with the majority of the board in upholding the necessity for honoring the no-strike pledge by all labor," the group said.

Public and industry WLB members went further to order the miners and operators to sign a contract incorporating a provision for no strikes for the duration of the war.

The WLB's ruling came on the controversial question of payments to the miners for time spent in traveling from the entrance of the mine to their place of work. Lewis originally sought $2.25 a day in portal pay and then offered to compromise on $1.50.

The board rejected the demand as an "indirect wage increase" in violation of the national stabilization policy, allowing the miners only 18 to 25 cents a day additional in increased vacation pay and payment for tools and safety equipment by the mine owners.

WLB Chairman William H. Davis asserted that it was "obviously impossible" for the board to approve such a portal-to-portal award.

"It would fly in the face of decision after decision of this board in which we have had to limit the wage increases allowed to the wage earners in most of the great war industries of the country," he said.

"Any such departure from the general rule would destroy the whole wage stabilization program. It would defeat its own ends. The resulting increases in costs of production could only have the effect to further increase all prices, including particularly farm and food prices, to levels which would nullify the wage increases.

"It would expose the mine workers themselves to a renewed danger that their payroll dollars would be reduced to small change before they get to the grocery store."

Davis asserted, moreover, that the present 85.7 cent hourly wage minimum for able-bodied mine workers is "certainly above any level that could be thought of as insufficient to maintain a decent standard of living" and assailed Lewis for "repudiating the no-strike agreement."

Wayne L. Morse, compliance officer of the WLB, said the granting of the UMW's portal-to-portal demands would "open the flood gates of general wage increases."

Morse declared that the question had developed as to "whether or not in the midst of a war the mine workers will abide by the same rules and the same laws which are applicable to all other groups."

2,000 Quit Mines In Pennsylvania

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. — (INS) — Repercussions of the WLB's coal division today appeared in western Pennsylvania's turbulent bituminous fields when approximately 2,000 United Mine Workers at five pits refused to report for work.

Both the upper and lower 37 seam level of the Berwind-White Coal company, employing 350 men, were idle, and they were soon joined by the Clymer and Barr slope mines of the New York Central railroad, where 650 diggers were out.

A short time later, about 1,050 men employed at the Isabella mine of the Weirton Steel company in the extensive Connelsville coke area indicated their displeasure at the War Labor Board's refusal to grand the bituminous coal miners portal-to-portal pay by staying away from their jobs.

Ruling Stirs AFL Miners In Illinois

CHICAGO—(INS)—The basis recent efforts to negotiate a separate peace in the Illinois coal fields appeared wrecked today by the war labor board's refusal to approve portal-to-portal pay for the nation's miners.

Local officials of the United Mine Workers declined comment, but the feeling was evident that a strike, perhaps even before the Sunday truce deadline, would surprise no one in the union halls.

A tentative agreement calling for a wage increase of $1.50 a day in portal-to-portal pay was reached this month between the union and the Illinois Coal Operators association.

But, as Fred Wilkey, secretary of the association, pointed out today, the agreement was made contingent on acceptance of the terms by the WLB. The agreement would have guaranteed uninterrupted production by some 23,000 miners.

The new wage crisis this time produced ominous stirring in the rival Progressive Mine Workers (AFL) union. This group and the Illinois Coal Producers association only yesterday agreed on $1.50 portal-to-portal pay.

Lloyd Thrush, president of the AFL union, greeted the WLB decision as "regrettable" and said it "will be deeply resented by all miners of our union." He declined to predict whether his members will quit work, but he pointed out that the present extension of the PMW agreement expires June 30.

19 Ohio Mines Are Closed By Walkouts

BELLAIRE —(AP)— At least 19 Ohio mines, including the state's largest, were idle today in the wake of a war labor board rule denying miners pay for underground travel.

Fourteen of the closed pits were in the Hocking Valley, and coal sources at Athens estimated about 3,500 men were affected. Three hundred were idle at the Rigby mine at Senecaville in Jefferson county.

Strike Threatens Steel Production

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—(UP)—Steel production in this vital industrial district was threatened today when nearly 6,000 United Mine Workers struck at the big captives mines of Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, raising to almost 8,000 the number of union coal diggers who have quit work in protest of the war labor board's rejection yesterday of the UMW's portal-to-portal wage demands.

Two West Virginia Coal Mines Closed

(By United Press)

The first break in the tense situation created among West Virginia's 130,000 coal miners as a result of a flat "no" to a new wage contract came today as 530 miners in three Harrison county operations failed to report for the early shift.

Idle mines were the Dawson Coal company operation, with 330 men out; the Reppert mine, with 100 men; and Maureen Coal company mine, employing 100 men. Officials of the Consolidation Coal company mines, largest in the county, said all men were in the pits today.

From other parts of the state, operators reported men on the job as usual although from one UMW quarter came the declaration of "no work" without a contract by the truce deadline midnight Sunday.

Legal Committee Begins Study of Airport's Cost

Schettler, City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner and Attorneys William F. Black, R. E. Hutchison and C. H. Henkel.

The committee's job will be to advise the city as to the procedure it must follow in transferring surplus funds into an airport fund for the land purchase and whether it will be necessary to issue bonds to finance the city's share of the airport project.

City officials, meanwhile, will be unable to do little about the program until CAA engineers arrive within a few days to name the site of the airport development and list requirements for the project.

BIBLE LEAGUE'S PRESIDENT TO SPEAK SUNDAY

Rev. Don R. Falkenberg Will Discuss Army Camps, Topic 'Missing In Action.'

Rev. Don R. Falkenberg, national president of the Bible Meditation league, and promoter of organized Bible study in more than 80 per cent of the army camps in America, will speak on the subject, "Missing In Action," at the Grace Gospel church Sunday at 3 p. m.

Rev. Falkenberg's message will bring before the audience glimpses into army camps all over the world and baptismal service off New Caledonia will be described.

"Missing In Action" will discuss Field Marshal Rommel's abandoned staff, now prisoners of war. His text is based partly on the life story of Chaplain Kenneth L. Thompson, who died in action in the South Pacific area.

CHURCH OF BRETHREN

Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger, pastor of First Christian church will be guest speaker at the 11 a. m. service Sunday in the absence of Rev. Roland L. Showalter, who is in Rochester, N. Y., attending a seminary there.

MISSING IN ACTION

Hear this thrilling message concerning the American soldiers, sailors, airmen and marines who are giving their lives in the battle for the freedom of our nation.

By DR. DON R. FALKENBERG
National President of the Bible Meditation League

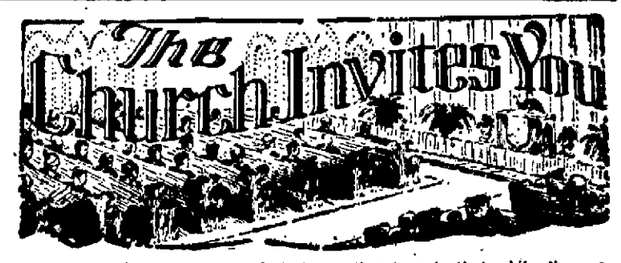
Direct from the battle front stories of heroism will be told by the one who is said to be the most discussed religious leader in America among men of the service. Dr. Falkenberg's published story of the heroic death of William Sawhill, Mansfield hero, has been requested by more than two hundred thousand men of the air forces of America, Canada, England, Norway and France. The service is open to all true Americans.

Mansfield Grace Gospel Church

95 E. Third St.

Sunday June 20th 3:00 P. M.

Dr. Falkenberg will preach in the same church Sunday evening, and at the 7:30 p. m. service in Mansfield 1st United Brethren Church will show his filmed-under-fire pictures of the surrender of Tunisia by the Germans and Italians, pictures which include the staff of General Rommel, now prisoners of war in the United States.



Dr. E. Stanley Jones says, "It is interesting to note that while divorces are one in six throughout the nation, among church people there are only one in fifty. This means, if it means anything, that to have something beyond the family, to which the family is loyal and devoted, will make that family hold together. The beyond-itself loyalty will be the cement which holds it together. "Blest be the tie" as sung with thoughts of loyalty to God and those who have surrendered to him appears unconsciously in family ties. Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?
—D. Carl Yoder.

Norwegian Bishop Berggrav during his imprisonment by the Nazis, is working on a translation of the Bible in modern Norwegian. (This might be the basis for a story on the great religious works which have been written while the authors were in prison.)

Declaring the "destiny of the Jews is a matter of immediate concern to the Christian conscience," representatives of almost 500 Christian leaders of all denominations throukhout the country, after an all-day conference recently in New York City organized themselves into a Christian Council on Palestine.

Pocket editions of the New Testament with the Psalms have been given to 3,100,000 men in the armed service and to Army and Navy nurses, Charles J. Pietsch, of Honolulu, chairman of the Gideons Bible committee, reported at the midwinter cabinet meeting of the Gideons International association.

In Spain, decrees issued in January ordered the closing of all Protestant schools and forbade the re-opening of Protestant churches which had been closed during the civil war. Only in Madrid and Seville are there remaining Protestant churches, and they are permitted there only on back streets and without bells, steeples or external sign to show that they are churches. Religious liberty does not exist in Spain.

Pastor Niemoeller is still in close confinement and his friends and the supporters of his cause have not weakened. Neo-paganism increases, but very slowly. The latest statistics show a gain of only 40 per cent in seven years and the present adherence of 3 per cent of the population. Borman, successor to Hess as deputy head of the Nazi party, has expressed his open and equal hostility to every form of Christian ity by saying, "Protestants are just as inimical to Nazism as Catholics."

Of the present armed forces 50 per cent claim to be attendants of some church. This consists of 70 per cent of the Roman Catholics, 50 per cent of the Protestants and 31 per cent of the Jews.

Remember this Arabian proverb in the description of a fool: "Anger, without a cause; speech without profit; change without progress; inquiry without object; putting trust in a stranger, and mistaking foes for friends." Bismarck once said, "There is no greater fool than he who says there is no God, unless it is he who does not know whether there is one or not."

It is contended that a fitting series of statements ought to be made when a young man proposes to a young girl. Here is one that will serve as a guide: "Darling, your eyes shine brighter than tracer bullets. When you look at me, incendiary bombs explode within me and my heart feels like the plunger of a machine gun. My head whirls like an A-le; and I gasp as if gassed, as I gaze upon your features, fairer than a flag of truce. The thought of losing you stabs my heart like shrapnel. Smart Girls Cultivate a Good Nature

By MME. QUI VIVE

There are women into whose lives no discord seems to come, the lucky creatures. They are the truly beautiful for they are taking care of their souls as well as their faces. A part of life's self-training is to learn how to get along agreeably and pleasantly with one's fellow beings. They run into difficulties and disappointments, as do the rest of us. They face conditions that would be upsetting to those who have less emotional control.

They don't fight; they compromise. They have a talent for sidestepping conflict and arguments, and they close their eyes to petty annoyances. We sometimes wonder how they do it. It is, of course, a matter of temperament. Some of us seem to be born with a gift for flying off the handle. But smarties go their calm, dignified way. They carry a radiance because they are at peace with themselves and the world.

"Nobody can hurt my feelings; I am immune," says one of these social philosophers. "The average person isn't mean or unkind. Sometimes he or she is stupid or tactless. I know there is no such thing as perfectionism. We all have weaknesses of one kind or another so all of us should be tolerant. If I am resentful I only make myself wretched.

"The best cosmetic is good nature," she continued, "and a little knowledge about the art of living is a good thing to have around the house. I feel sorry for women who hang onto old grievances, drag them out and shake them just so often to the boredom of their listeners. Their faces are seamed, complexions colorless, forms drooping. They are the victims of self-inflicted defects in appearance.

"Look at the women who go around with chips on their shoulders. They can't give a grocery order over the telephone without getting into a fight. Say anything to them and they fancy they are being slighted or insulted. They seem to be spitting lightning, which must be pretty tough on their families. They look like graven images, faces lacking in softness, sweetness and human feeling. Their flurries are all about nothing."

Brains and culture are forces that make a woman charming. The dumbest fool should know how to keep herself from being disagreeable.

Good manners and graciousness oil the wheels of life, make the going smooth. They cost nothing.

The woman who avoids conflict isn't weak; she is strong. It is much easier to loosen your tongue and start something than it is to hush-hush. We make quick speeches, then suffer remorse; so both individuals are harmed and hurt, the one who speaks and the one who is spoken to.

PRESENTS PROGRAM AT WOMEN'S CLUB

Mrs. A. C. Tuttle Speaks on 'Nutrition and Its Value In Our Lives'; Mrs. W. Campbell, Mrs. R. Gibson, Mrs. S. Coffin Hostesses.

MRS. A. C. TUTTLE had charge of the program at a meeting of the Mansfield Garden club held Friday morning at the Women's Club.

Mrs. Tuttle gave an informative talk on "Nutrition and Its Value In Our Lives." An informal discussion was held following the talk, and Mrs. Tuttle answered the questions of the club members.

The room was decorated with many lovely arrangements of flowers, including a beautiful bowl of delphinium from the James Dickson garden. The luncheon table was centered with a bowl of white water lilies and ivy.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Wallace Campbell, Mrs. Robert Gibson and Mrs. Scott Coffin.

The place of the July 9 meeting will be announced later.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, June 20.

Sunday's horoscope holds augury of much success and satisfaction in all cultural or professional activities, with unforeseen and unpredictable culmination of sudden and surprising force, combining to make the future security and stability of far reaching importance. There may be some sort of windfall, a gift, inheritance, a promotion or honor. But withal there may be certain friction or anxiety.

A child born on this day should be blessed with outstanding talents entitling it to enduring and substantial recognition, gifts or other rewards. It may shine in public preferment and be happy.

For Monday, June 21.

Monday's astrological forecast is for a stabilizing and sound establishment of the fame and fortunes, possibly coming as recognition and rewards for long and faithful service or for well organized and energetically performed duties or obligations. Real worth should find its rewards and compensations, although there are possibilities of being victimized.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of fundamental or profound insight and good judgment.

A child born on this day may have much stability of mind and emotions and should reap rich rewards although, subject to subtle underminings.

Honored on 2nd Birthday

Linda Kay Griffin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Griffin, 310 Fairlawn avenue, was honored on her second birthday with a party at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. W. E. Hahne, 160 Carpenter road.

The afternoon was spent playing games with the prizes going to Danny Harrington, Charlene Bell, Myra Lou Limbers, and Carol Kay Snyder. The young guests were seated at a long table centered with a birthday cake.

THEATERS

FBI Helped Filming.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation served as a part-time casting office for March of Time's "We Are the Marines," the full-length feature film now at the Madison. The picture, produced in collaboration with the Marine corps, is wholly peopled with real leathernecks. In continuity sequences, though, Japs were needed. They were furnished on order by the F. B. I. The film is a 20th Century-Fox release. Roddy McDowall, Preston Foster, Rita Johnson and Mansfielder Diana Hale are featured in the co-attraction, "My Friend Flicka."

Opens Today.

Judy Garland and Van Heflin are co-starred in "Presenting Lily Mars," the Ohio attraction starting today. Two of the nation's best known orchestras, Tommy Dorsey and Bob Crosby and their musicians, are featured in the film. Miss Garland plays the part of an attractive young lady who wants to become a musical comedy star. But Heflin tells her she'll never make good. Judy is not discouraged, however, and sets out to show Heflin he's wrong. Fay Bainter, Richard Carlson, Spring Byington, Marta Eggerth, Connie Gilchrist and Leonid Kinskey are seen in the supporting cast.

Star Spangled Rhythm.

More than 40 stars in one picture. That's the record Paramount has set up in "Star Spangled Rhythm," which opens tomorrow at the Ritz for a three-day run. The story deals with the efforts of Paramount studio gateman, Victor Moore, and telephone operator, Betty Hutton, to build themselves up to Moore's sailor son, Eddie Bracken, by telling him the old man is head of the studio, and Betty, his secretary. The old man is in hot water when Eddie arrives home on leave with a group of sailor pals and wants to visit "dad's studio." Other Ritz attraction is "At the Front."

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Yes, I suppose he will," I said wincing, for I knew all too well my husband's talents in teasing. "But," I added resignedly, "there's nothing I can do about it."

"Not unless you murder him," Katharine agreed, "and I don't suppose you'd consider that."

I pretended to ponder the proposition, "I don't think that would be advisable today," I drawled. "Too much on hand. Perhaps some other day."

"Save me a front seat," Katharine directed, and, as I rose and walked toward the door,—"What's on your mind?" she queried.

"Nothing much," I answered, "except that I haven't anything on hand between now and the time Dicky gets here, and I might as well tell Olina about getting over here in the morning."

Katharine Is Amused.

She tried to smother a giggle, failed ignominiously and I whirled around to face her.

"What's so funny about that?" I demanded.

"It isn't you," she said, "but, didn't I hear your father say you had to be at that hotel at eight o'clock in the morning to meet Hadley, the make-up man?"

"Yes, but I don't—"

"Am I right in this," she went on, ignoring my answer, "that you'll have to start from here by 7:00, and the corollary is that little Olina will have to sprint over here some time before that? And with such exciting events in the offing you may be sure that Mama Olga won't mind of course Papa Phil will be toddling along after their child. Now, tell me, did you ever know Philip Vertzen to see a sunrise? I mean to get up in time to see one? He probably has soup plates after staying up all night."

"He certainly doesn't go in for early rising," I agreed.

"Exactly," she said. "So can you blame me for a quiet chuckle when I visualize the suffering of the great impresario when he has to spring—or, more probably, to lumber — from his comfortable couch at that unearthly hour?"

"Sadist!" I flung at her as well as I could for laughing at the picture she had drawn, and then went swiftly out of the apartment, down the corridor, and up in the lift to the top floor.

The guard on duty stepped forward as I rounded the turn in the corridor. Then, as he recognized me, touched his cap and stepped back again. I sounded the artistic old knocker, and Philip Vertzen himself came to the door. He looked surprised when he saw me.

"There is a little change of plan about the time of Olina's coming over," I explained, "so I thought I'd tell her about it now, and get it out of the way."

"Of course," he agreed. "Come on in."

He ushered me into the big sitting room of the suite where Olga and Olina were seated before the cheerful fire. They both rose to greet me, and when we were all seated again, I explained the change in plan.

Regrets the Hour.

"It is too bad to get you out at that unconscionable hour," Olina," I said, but Olga answered before her daughter could speak.

"The inconvenience is nothing," she said, "when we consider what you are doing. Philip was telling us of the disguise you are to assume to enable you to watch over our daughter at that hotel. But who is to be with her on her journey to the bank, and then on to the other hotel?"

"I do not know," I said, "but you may be sure that my father will provide ample protection for her."

"Oh I know that!" Olga said quickly. "But—I was wondering. Of course I will accompany Olina to your suite in the morning."

A startled look came into her husband's eyes and I knew the great impresario was mentally figuring the next morning's rising-time. But he did not flinch as he added a corollary to her statement.

"And I also will be there," he said.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

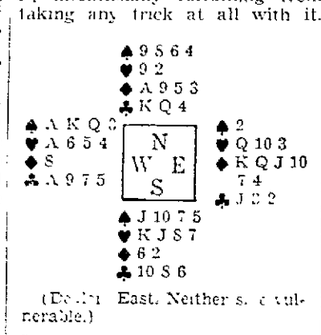
"The Authority on Authorities"

WASTE IT PURPOSELY

Aces are nice things to have, for the very simple reason that we usually take tricks with them. When we fail to, we usually feel pretty terrible, or at least pretty foolish. Once in a coon's age, however, we should deliberately force upon ourselves the experience of "going to bed with an ace"—that is, intentionally refraining from taking any trick at all with it.



(Dealer East. Neither side vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	Pass
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 NT

West could see, after the lead of the spade 4, that his only chance for game was in taking some diamond tricks. To do this, he surely would require a side entry to the dummy, which might be developed in either hearts or clubs. Winning the first trick with the A, he led the diamond 8 to the K. North holding up his A, but coming in with it then on the Q when West discarded a heart.

North fired back his heart 9. West calling the 10 from dummy and South playing the J. West let this win, and when South did not return a heart he was sure the K was in that hand, so he would have to depend on clubs for entry to dummy. South's switch was to the spade J. West used his K and led the club 5. North took with the Q and returned the heart 2. The Q was tried from dummy without any hope, the K covered and the A won.

Now the club 7 was won by North's K, but he had no more hearts, so sent his spade 8 to the Q. This set the stage for the interesting finish. The club 9 to the J gave entry to the dummy, where three diamond tricks followed, the club A being among the cards discarded. West had no earthly way to make his game except deliberately planning to refrain from taking a trick with the club A.

Your Week-End Lesson.

Are you familiar with the regulations in the new Laws of Contract Bridge on these matters.

1. Inspecting tricks during the play?
2. Gathering and arranging the tricks that have been played?
3. A trick appropriated in error by the side which did not win it?
4. A trick conceded in error.
5. A new deal required by something which develops during the play?

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

When Guy Van Nostrand resigned recently as coach at Johnny Appleseed junior high school, it was officially announced the move was made so he could "take another job."

Well, that seems to have been a true statement. He did quit, so he could take another job—but he hasn't got another coaching job yet.

Van Nostrand has ambitions. He realizes there are a number of coaching posts open in Ohio high schools this spring, and probably will be more before the summer's over. He wanted a free hand to shop around.

Meanwhile Guy is working at Mansfield Tire, and can afford to take his time in signing up for another term of school work. In fact it probably will take a really good coaching offer to get him away from the Tire.

His old friend, Spiv Harris, sports editor of the Mt. Vernon News, has been beating the drums for Guy in his old home town where two coaching jobs are now open.

But the Mt. Vernon jobs and Guy's teaching qualifications don't seem to line up, and the door appears to be closing there.

* * *

Assistant Football Coach Lauri Wartiainen quit at Mt. Vernon recently to join the famous Massillon system as a junior high coach.

Basketball Coach Myron (Mike) Prech recently was awarded an ensign's commission in the navy, and has been granted a duration leave of absence by the Mt. Vernon schools.

Now Mt. Vernon is looking for one man to fill both jobs, and also teach mathematics.

* * *

In addition to their coaching duties at Mt. Vernon, Wartiainen taught math and Prech supervised the distributive education program.

Van Nostrand is a candidate for the athletic end of the job, but he isn't a math teacher. He teaches biology and sociology, and Mt. Vernon has veteran teachers for those departments.

* * *

Under present conditions Guy doesn't have to jump at any and every opening that comes along. There are plenty of places open, and I wouldn't be surprised if more open up, right in this vicinity, this summer.

Browns Star Retains Lead

Stephens Paces Both Leagues In Hitting.

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Vern Stephens, St. Louis Briwns' shortstop, again led both major leagues in hitting during the past week with an average of .350 for 38 games, official averages disclosed today.

Behind the American league leader came the National league's top man, Babe Dahlgren of the Phillies, with a mark of .347 for 48 games.

* * *

The New York Yankees continued to boast the best collective hitting with a team mark of .253 while the American league's best defensive club was the Chicago White Sox with a .979 percentage afield. Brooklyn's Dodgers, with a .263 collective average, held the senior circuit team hitting lead by .002 per cent over the front-running St. Louis Cardinals. The Cincinnati Reds led on defense with .981.

WANTS FREEDOM FOR AMERICAN SPORT

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Rep. Frank L. Sundstrom, (R. N. J.), in a speech prepared for delivery on the house floor charged that government control of sports would results in "athletic records being made by bureaucrats instead of by athletes."

"It was reported," Sundstrom said, "that the president had decided on appointing a committee to attempt a solution of the war-born problems confronting organization sports. If the government is suddenly aware of the health and morale of our people, why does it not take immediate affirmative action with the food situation. . . . I stand for freedom of American sports. Federal control will destroy this freedom."

Dodgers Suffer Jitters

Bums Bungling Along On 5 Losses In Row.

By SID FEDER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

THE panic is on in Brooklyn. If Leo the Lip Durocher and his desperate Dodgers haven't got a good—or bad—case of the jitters, then they ought to see a doctor about the chills and shakes, because the symptoms are the same.

* * *

As the Bums are bungling along on a five-game losing streak, it begins to appear they not only have ceased being any immediate threat to the St. Louis Cardinals, but are actually well on the way to coming apart at the seams.

As a result of the particularly hard work the daffiness boys did it blowing a 10-8 decision to the Phillies yesterday—with the Phils piling up nine runs in a sixth-inning spree—the Brooklyns are now only a game in front of the roaring Reds from Cincinnati, who grabbed a 1-0 14-inning thriller from Pittsburgh. The St. Louis swifties dropped a 6-1 night verdict to Claude Passeau and the Chicago Cubs, but it still left them in the drum major's spot in the National league parade by three full games.

A few days ago, one member of the Dodgers' big happy family whispered in confidence that in his opinion the chief trouble was the way the Lip handles his pitchers—using starters for relief on most occasions and then expecting them to be sharp for their regular turns.

The Lip was handling his elbowers yesterday like the magician trying to work the card-up-the-sleeve gag with the hat from which he pulls the rabbits.

Rube Melton started and had a one-hitter for five frames. . . . In the sixth, the roof fell in and Durocher called on another of his starters—Curt Davis. All Curt had was his glove, so Leo picked a third regular starter to put out the fire. Came the seventh, and the Lip put in a pinch-hitter, but instead of putting the finger on one of his relief throwers then—two runs behind and two frames to go—Leo called in Bobo Newsom, also a regular starter. Yet, his relief pitchers insisted later they were not too busy playing gin rummy.

Celebrating their championship flag-raising ceremonies, the Cardinals committed five errors.

Over in the American league Joe Gordon had one of his worst days as a Yankee, fumbling two important chances and fanning three times as the Boston Red Sox belted the New Yorkers 3-1.

Since the Washington Senators failed the Athletics 4-2 in ten innings, with Milo Candini chalking up the sixth win of his undefeated season, the Yanks' American league lead was sliced to three games.

Ray Starr painted a five-hit whitewash job in going the entire 14 frames for the Reds against the Pirates. Another overtime outing saw the Indians outlast the White Sox 5-3 in a 14-inning night tussle to take over sixth place in the league from Jimmy Dykes' darlings.

Vernon Stephens hit two homers as the St. Louis Browns downed Detroit 7-4 and Chet Ross clouted a three-run pinch homer with two away in the ninth to give the Boston Braves an 8-6 verdict over the New York Giants.

Aletern Tries for Third Handicap

CHICAGO —(AP)— A. C. Ernst's Aletern will try to clinch the championship of the Lincoln Fields meeting in today's program, which concludes the 30-day session, by winning his third handicap, the $5,000 Lincoln.

* * *

The race is at a mile and a quarter, longer than any of the previous stakes, but the distance appeared to be to Aletern's advantage. Three rivals will face him—Shot Put, Take Wing and Best Seller.

* * *

Yesterday John Marsch's Occupation, juvenile champion of 1942, made a comeback after being laid up with a leg injury since Oct. 31 by winning his debut as a three-year-old. Finishing a half length ahead of Best Seller over the six furlongs, Occupation proved he was rounding into shape to challenge Count Fleet in the Arlington classic and American derby during the Arlington-Washington 67-day meeting starting at Washington Park Monday. As a juvenile, Occupation whipped the Count two out of three times.

GOOD FOR BALLPLAYERS

WACO, Texas —(AP)— Birdie Tebbetts, former Detroit catcher, is a great booster for the army life. "It would do untold good to some great and slightly temperamental ball players I've known if they could have six months of life in the army," said Tebbetts recently.

Among aviation cadets at Bainbridge Field, Ga., now are George E. Porter, former University of Texas boxer and Southwestern AAU and sectional Golden Gloves champion; Claude E. Corbitt, formerly Duke university and American association baseballer; and William B. Ostrander formerly of the San Diego Bombers pro football club.

Coaches Dodgers

PETE CAWTHORN, former head coach at Texas Tech and recently assistant at Alabama, has been named head football coach of the Brooklyn pros.

Still Cling to Pro Grid Hope

Club Owners Discuss Plans For Season.

CHICAGO — (AP) — National Football league owners or their representatives sat down at the conference table today for the last time before the 1943 season opens —and a majority of them firmly believe there will be professional football in 1943.

First items of business on today's opening meeting of the two-day session were the proposed merger of the Philadelphia Eagles and the Pittsburgh Steelers, expected to be voted down; a consideration of five applications for new franchises, and a roll call of the nine active members to see if any more have determined to drop out since the Cleveland Rams set the precedent at the April gathering.

* * *

The franchise requests came from Ted Collins, manager of Singer Kate Smith; Don Ameche, movie actor; Frank Mandel of the Chicago department store family; Henry L. White and Edgar Allen Poe of a Baltimore, Md., oil firm, and Arthur E. Ehlers, representing a group of Baltimore businessmen.

* * *

Collins and Mandel would operate in Boston, Ameche in Buffalo, N. Y., and Ehlers and White and Poe in Baltimore. The applications of Ameche, Collins and Mandel were accompanied by checks for $25,000, representing one-half of the membership cost. The other $25,000 would have to be posted by each before the clubs could begin operation as members of the league.

Slip Madigan Coaches Iowa

Named Successor to Dr. Eddie Anderson.

IOWA CITY, Ia.—(AP)—When Edward P. "Slip" Madigan comes to the University of Iowa July 1 as head football coach he will face the challenge of making a little bit of manpower go a long way—just as he did during his 19 years at St. Mary's college in California.

* * *

Appointment of Madigan to a six months coaching contract, as successor to Dr. Eddie Anderson who now is an army major, was announced by the athletic board of control yesterday. The salary was not disclosed.

* * *

The happy Irishman with the twinkling blue eyes must prepare for a rugged schedule with material composed almost exclusively of freshmen under draft age. Not more than four lettermen — and perhaps as few as one or two—will be back.

The Iowa post will be in the nature of a midwestern homecoming for Madigan. A native of Ottawa, Ill., he graduated from high school there and then went to Notre Dame where he and Eddie Anderson played on the same team in 1919.

In the 19 years ending when Madigan dropped out of football after resigning at St. Mary's in 1939 his teams won 113 games, lost 46 and tied 12. They scored 2,701 points to their opponents' 1,195.

SEGURA FACES OHIO STATE STAR

MONTCLAIR, N. J. — (U.P.) — Francisco (Pancho) Segura, fiery South American tennis ace, plays Robert Wasserman of Ohio State today in the finals of the 14th annual eastern intercollegiate championships here.

Segura, playing for the University of Miami, stroked his way into the finals with a 6-2, 6-4, 7-5 victory over Elston Wyatt of navy yesterday. Wasserman upset Richard Bender of Princeton with a driving comeback from the brink of defeat, 4-6, 0-6, 6-1, 6-2, 7-5.

National Selects All-Stars

Probably Will Move Dahlgren to First.

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — National league managers must vote before July 4 on the all-star team which will meet the American league aces at Philadelphia's Shibe Park the night of July 13.

Each of the eight National pilots will nominate 25 players to league-president Ford Frick. Players receiving eight, seven or even six votes are almost certain to make the squad. Below those figures many ties will result. In such cases Billy Southworth of the Cards, this year's manager of the All-Stars, will make the selections.

On the basis of current performances, we expect the squad to comprise the following players:

First base — Frank McCormick, Cincinnati, and Babe Dahlgren, Philadelphia (although now playing third).

Second base — Billy Herman, Brooklyn; Lonnie Frey, Cincinnati, or Frank Gustine, Pittsburgh.

Short stop—Slate Marion, St. Louis; Eddie Miller, Concinnati or Whitey Wietelmann, Boston.

Third base—Whitey Kurowski, St. Louis; Stan Hack, Cubs, or Steve Mesner, Cincinnati.

Outfield — Harry Walker, St. Louis; Tommy Holmes, Boston; Bill Nicholson, Chicago; Mel Ott, New York; Vince DiMaggio, Pittsburgh; Augie Galan, Brooklyn, Lou Novikoff, Chicago; Stan Musial, St. Louis.

Catcher—Mickey Owens, Brooklyn; Walker Cooper, St. Louis; Al Lopez, Pittsburgh, or Ernie Lombardi, New York.

Pitcher — Mort Cooper, Cardinals; Rip Sewell, Pittsburgh; Elmer Riddle and Johnny Vander Meer, Cincinnati; Howard Pollet, St. Louis; Si Johnson, Philadelphia; Al Javery or Jim Tobin, Boston.

We are confident that Babe Dahlgren of the Phillies will be voted a post at first base, even though he now is holding down the Phillies' hot corner. Dahlgren, leading batsman in the circuit, is generally recognized as the league's best first baseman this season, although his club's infield weaknesses have caused him to be shifted to other posts.

The All-Stars apparently will be harder pressed for power at the initial sack than at third, where Kurowski, Hack or Mesner are potent.

Keenest competition is at second base, where veteran Billy Herman, Dodgers, is certain to clinch a post because of his excellent all-round play this season, coupled with past experience. However, young Frank Gustine of the Pirates—brilliant at bat and afield—is challenging Lonnie Frey of the Reds for the other berth.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Ensign Cornelius Warmerdam, the pole vault high flyer, was grounded on the way to the A. A. A. track championships when someone with priority came along at Salt Lake City and took his plane seat. . . . Dutch phoned Dan Ferris about it at 2 a. m. and Dan managed to get him onto another plane in time to reach here yesterday. . . . Yesterday's National league standing showed the closest race of any June 18 since 1937, when the first-place Cubs and last-place Reds were only 12½ games apart. Yesterday 14½ games separated the Cards and the Cubs.

A FAIR START

Jack Lavelle, starter for the national track championships, has spent considerable time learning the Swedish words so he can give the commands to start tomorrow's 5,000 meter race in Gunder Haegg's native language.

* * *

The National league green book "introduced" eight new Phillies this spring. None is with the club now . . . Bill Herman, who has played 215 consecutive games since Sept. 22, 1941, is the new National league endurance champ now that Danny Litwhiler's string has been broken.

HEADLINES AND HEADACHES

Paul Dean plans to quit baseball to run barrel factory. Anything to stave off defeat. . . . Slip Madigan appointed Iowa football coach. Who said the Hawkeyes aren't Madigan anybody? . . . Tony Galento battles cop over a nickel and gets the worst of it. Overpaid again.

Metric Mile Merely Prelim

Dodds Defends Title Against Don Burnham.

NEW YORK — (AP) — The race that would have been tops in other years—the metric mile with Champion Gil Godds defending — occupies the main stage of the National A. A. U. track championships today but it serves only as a prelude to Sunday's 5,000 meter meeting between Greg Rice and Sweden's Gunder Haegg.

Twenty-one junior titles are up for decision today in addition to the senior crowns in the 1,500 meters, the 10,000 meters and the 3,000-meter walk. The metric mile was moved from the Sunday program because Dodds, a divinity student in Boston, refused to compete on the Sabbath.

He will have Don Burnham of Dartmouth, winner of both the IC-4A and NCAA miles this spring, as his main rival but with plenty of opposition expected from Bill Hulse, formerly of New York university but now of the New York A. C. Hulse has been clocked in 4:15.9 —fastest outdoor mile of the season.

* * *

The 10,000 meter marathon is a wide open affair with Lieut. Joe McCluskey of North Carolina Pre-flight favored if he starts.

While the Haegg-Rice battle is the pivot of the Sunday program, close competition is expected in all 18 events of the second day's bill. All told, 370 athletes from 37 states will compete in the fifty-fifth annual ender conclave.

Haegg, according to present arrangements, will run at Chicago July 3, Los Angeles July 10, San Francisco July 17, Boston July 24, Cleveland July 31, Pittsburgh Aug. 7 and Washington Aug. 14.

COACHES NEBRASKA

LINCOLN, Neb. —(INS)— A. J. Lewandowski has been named athletic director and head football coach at the University of Nebraska to succeed Glenn Presnell who entered the navy. Lewandowski's contract, it was explained today, ends with the war.

Thomas D. Keeton, once University of Texas pitcher, who went into the army from the Louisville Colonels, now is an aviation cadet at Randolph Field, Tex.

Indians Starting Streak

Four Straight Wins Boost Them to Sixth.

CHICAGO — (AP) — Cleveland's sixth-place Indians meet Chicago's seventh-place White Sox twice today and twice tomorrow in an effort to lengthen a victory string already at four in a row.

The Tribe went 14 innings to take a 5 to 3 after-midnight decision from the White Sox yesterday, opening the series. The triumph gave the Tribe its longest list of consecutive wins this season, and boosted them to one game out of third place.

* * *

Manager Lou Boudreau named Chubby Dean and Ray Poat to do the pitching chores today, opposing Thornton Lee and Johnny Humphries, both former Clevelanders.

The Indians tallied first last night and then saw Chicago surge ahead with three runs in the third. Cleveland runs in the fourth and eighth innings sent the game into overtime.

With one man out in the fourteenth, Cleveland grouped singles by Ray Mack, Oris Hockett, Boudreau and rookie Pat Seerey to fashion two runs and a ball game.

Vernon Kennedy won his second game of the campaign when he relieved Pete Center in the sixth. Al Smith started on the mound for Cleveland, but folded after the Chicagoans romped over in the third with their only three runs.

Lefty Ed Smith went the route for the Sox, giving up 11 hits. His mates nicked the Cleveland threesome for the same total.

REDS CLIMB

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— Pounding along at an unrelenting clip, the Cincinnati Reds stood four games out of first place in the National league standings today—and one game behind the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Reds and the Pittsburgh Pirates battle again today in the second of a four game series after the Cincinnati team outrode Frankie Frisch's warriors in a 14-inning thriller yesterday which ended 1 to 0.

* * *

After giving two hits in the fifth, Starr allowed but three more men to get on base, two by singles and a pass. Along with pacing the Redleg attack by getting three for three, Frey also played a great game in the field, pivoting on two important double plays and coming up with Bob Elliott's hot smash in the twelfth with Johnny Wyrostek winging plateward with what would have been the winning marker.

Cincinnati threatened numerous times but failed to get solid blows in the clutch and erasing possible scores by hitting into four double killings. They got to Butcher for 10 safeties while Starr permitted the Buccos half that number.

Bucky Walters is slated to go to the mound in today's game for the Reds while Manager Frisch has designated Bobby Klinger.

Straight Deal Takes Derby

15 to 1 Shot Romps In British Classic.

NEWMARKET, England —(AP)— Straight Deal, a 15 to 1 shot owned by Dorothy Paget, one of Britain's most prominent horsewomen, won the historic derby today by sweeping from fifth place in the last half mile.

The Aga Khan's Umiddad was second and His Nashrullah was third.

* * *

Persian Gulf finished fourth and the favorite, Kingsway which is owned by Lord Astor, came in fifth. First reports had said Kingsway was fourth, but an official derby ruling put the favorite fifth.

* * *

The race was worth approximately $18,000 to the winner and was run in a strange setting, stripped of all its pre-war finery.

Unofficially, the time was two minutes, 30 2-5 seconds, which is nearly three seconds faster than yesterday's oaks over the same course.

The race is one mile and 885 yards and for three-year olds, colts and fillies.

Pfc Herby Karpel, slated to join the N. Y. Yankees pitching roster this spring until Uncle Sam tapped him, is with the 824th Tank Destroyer battalion at Camp Bowie, Texas. Last year he won 11 and lost 1 while hurling for Kansas City, and was voted the outstanding American association pitcher of 1942.

Lt. Carlos Proctor, formerly boxing coach, freshman fotball coach and director of intramural athletics, now is at U. S. Naval Air station, Banana River, Fla.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given, that Lena Cordelia Hubbard, 399 Cornell St., Akron, Ohio (North Hill) has been duly appointed and qualified as executrix in the estate of Althea Duffner, deceased, late of Springfield Twp., Richland County, Ohio.

Hal's Back

HAROLD ARTHUR TROSKY, the big first baseman of the Cleveland Indians who dropped out of baseball after the close of the 1911 season because of a severe migraine headache condition, has donned an Indian uniform again and hopes to make a comeback. Trosky, with a nine-year American league batting average of 313, has been living on his Iowa farm.

Lead Trimmed To Two Games

Indianapolis Loses Seven In Last 12.

(By Associated Press)

The Indianapolis Indians lost their seventh game in 12 starts last night, and although this record could not be called much of a slump, it was enough to cut the Tribe's lead from four to two games during the last two weeks in the American Association.

* * *

The second division Toledo Mudhens accomplished a 7-1 victory over Indianapolis, and this, coupled with Milwaukee's second successive blanking job of Minneapolis, 1-0 resulted in closing the gap of the league leaders.

* * *

Doubleheader wins by last-place Louisville over Columbus and St. Paul over the floundering Kansas City Blues further tightened the standings, leaving only 9½ games separating the cellar club from the leader.

Art Herring allowed only four hits and Clay Smith spaced nine as St. Paul bested Kansas City 10 to 2 and 4 to 1.

A pair of five hitters by Boogie Schupp and Mel Deutsch powered Louisville to 6-1 and 4-1 decisions over Columbus. The Colonels put together three unearned runs and squeezed in two more on bunts to win the opener.

Triples by Jack Albright, Ford Garrison, Steve Barath and Tom McBride buoyed a 10-hit attack by Louisville in the Nightcap.

Trotters Move to Randall

Matron Stake Opens 'Roaring Grand' Meet.

By SAM FOGG

CLEVELAND—(INS—Big league harness racing, still retaining the rapid-paced atmosphere of David Harum and the color of a county fair, will return to Cleveland June 29 when the Grand Circuit season opens at North Randall race track with the top horses and the top sulky drivers of the nation competing.

* * *

The initial meet of the circuit marks a resumption of big time trotting at the Cleveland track after a four-year absence. North Randall closed in 1939 after 30 consecutive seasons in which some of the greatest trotters and pacers in history appeared there.

More than 600 entries are expected for the meet which will continue daily until July 24. Approximately $150,000 in purses will be offered for the stake events which include nearly 10 high-priced feature races.

With other recreation and sports facilities limited by wartime restrictions, harness racing which shifts about for the convenience of the customers is experiencing an encouraging boom this summer. In early, smaller meets, crowds have shown a decided increase and betting at the parimutuels is up 65 per cent this year.

The North Randall meet, offering from nine to 11 dashes each afternoon, will open with the Matron's stake event in which candidates for the Hambletonian at Goshen, N. Y., will compete for the first time.

A purse of $7,500 will be the winner's share in the event for three-year-old trotters. The 33rd renewal of the traditional race is the first prevue of the Hambletonian. Other feature stake races to be staged at the meet are the E. H. Harriman cup stakes, the Messenger and Goldsmith maiden stakes, the National and American stakes and the Coach Club trotting oak for three-year-old fillies.

"Woods and Waters"

By YUNCKER BROS.

California sea lions were once believed to destroy quantities of valuable game and food fish . . . and a campaign was launched to exterminate them. But careful investigation proved that they feed mostly on fishermen's enemies . . . squid, devilfish, etc. They are also known to swallow pebbles, one specimen's stomach yielding 16 pounds of stones.

* * *

Designed for leaping, our deer family's hind legs are longer than their forelegs . . . with the exception of the moose. His forelegs are so long that he has to kneel down to graze.

* * *

Clean your fly lines regularly. Every time you fish they pick up a certain amount of grit, and this works havoc with the finish. A good wash, with mild soap, followed by a gentle rubdown to dry it, and then a rubbing with a good line dressing, will keep that valuable line like new. But don't rub the line too hard as it may burn the finish. You'll find the best line dressings at Yunckers.

* * *

Wood peckers are the only birds in the United States that can dig holes in solid trees. Their tongues, incidentally are longer than their heads.

* * *

Sheath knives for hunting knives are, and have been, mighty scarce, but Yunckers are fortunate in being able to offer a sturdy, well-made knife, of excellent steel, that will serve many a useful purpose for both civilians and service men.

* * *

One thing sharks never have to worry about are dental troubles. Through a convenient set-up of nature, when they lose one of their sharp teeth, another slides forward to replace it from a "spare" back row.

* * *

A wolf usually mates for life and, upon the death of its companion, an older male or female seldom mates again, or even joins a family group on its forays. Thus the expression "lone wolf" is true even in wildlife.

PRICES FOUND IRREGULAR FOR STOCK LEADERS

Quiet Opening Finds Some Issues Taking Slight Upward Movement.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Prices for leading stocks were slightly irregular in today's early market proceedings.

Up fractionally at a quiet opening were Richfield Oil, Paramount, Republic Steel and Sinclair Oil. Lower quotations were posted for Texas Co., Commercial investment Trust, General Electric, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Kennecott and Chrysler.

CHICAGO—(AP)—A firm undertone prevailed in grains at the opening today, oats and rye advancing minor fractions on reports Chester Davis, war food administrator, had asked the White House to allow more flexibility in price control.

Wheat started ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, July $1.43⅝, September $1.43⅝-½, and corn was unchanged, July $1.05.

GOES ON BLOCK TO MEET TAXES

$74,000,000 Worth of Property Offered For Sale.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Tax delinquent property valued at $74,900,000 was on the block in Cuyahoga county today as county commissioners established a policy of liquidation under new state foreclosure law which becomes effective Aug. 12.

A plan to organize a liquidating department in the county was agreed to by the commissioners who said that approximately 35 per cent of the county's 371,679 real estate property parcels will be eligible for sale under foreclosure proceedings.

TRAIN KILLS CHILD

COLUMBUS — (AP) — A Chesapeake and Ohio passenger train struck and killed 18-month-old Sharon V. Thomas near her home in Perry township yesterday. The child's mother, Mrs. Herbert H. Thomas said the baby strayed onto the tracks.

HUSBAND KILLED

FINDLAY — (AP) — Mrs. Helen Booth said her husband, Flying Officer Gordon B. Booth of the Royal Canadian Air force, was killed in action June 16. She resides with her two children in nearby McComb.

for the OWI's domestic branch and specifiied that no other monies should be allocated to it.

"America needs no Goebbels sitting in Washington: America needs no Virginio Gayda," Starnes cried in an impassioned plea to the membership. "It is an insult to the American people to have an agency to tell them why we are fighting this war, to interpret this war to them.

"They don't need propaganda of a state Socialistic tint—dished out by an outfit headed by a member of the American Labor party—to know that they have fathers, brothers, sons and sweethearts dying on the battlefields of the world.

"They know what this war is about, and they know about it from the finest and most free press in the world. Let's keep it that way."

Reps. Celler (D) N. Y., Murphy (D.) Pa., and Cannon (D.) Mo., went to the defense of Elmer Davis, head of the OWI to whom Starnes referred as a member of the American Labor party.

"If you adopt this amendment," Cannon began, "you will wipe out every vestige of control over the press, control over the radio and control over the moving picture industry . . ."

House members roared with laughter, and Rep. Woodrum (D.) Va., sought to admonish his colleague, saying:

"Everyone knows that the gentleman from Missouri did not mean to use the word 'control' — he meant 'coordinate'."

dima were cut up by American Warhawks.

The United States fliers bagged a total of 39 Axis aircraft which attempted in vain to ward off the assaults.

The communique from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announcing the bombardments said that only "eight of our aircraft are missing from all these operations."

Cairo disclosed simultaneously that heavy Royal Air Force bombers of the middle east command struck a new heavy blow at the Comiso airdrome in Sicily, starting fires in hangars, workshops and dispersal areas.

The B-17 Boeing Flying Forts scored many hits on the ferry terminal, on the power station and in railway yards at Messina, across the straits of Messina from the toe of the Italian boot.

P-38 Lightning fighter-bombers meted out the new assault to the previously heavily bombed Milo airfield.

1,000 Acres of Ruhr City Left In Ruins

LONDON — (UP) — RAF bombardment of the great German industrial city of Dusseldorf has devastated more than 1,000 acres in the heart of the Nazi war production center and the total may be 1,500 acres, the air ministry news service said today.

The news service said that the estimate of damage to the Rhineland city was not complete.

The RAF term "devastated" means more than 65 per cent destroyed. Dusseldorf has been hit by three great RAF night attacks.

The total damage at Dusseldorf probably will be more than two square miles destroyed, the news service said, adding:

"This is the most shattering blow to the German war potential so far struck in the battle of the Ruhr valley."

The first survey was based on aerial photographs taken after the June 11 RAF raid.

Yanks Escape After Eight-Month Siege

(By United Press)

U. S. ARMY BASE, NORTHEAST ASSAM, India, June 14—(Delayed) — Eight American soldiers, bearded, muddy, soaking wet but still full of fight, straggled into base today after eight months under siege at a jungle outpost battling Japanese forces four times the size of their outfit.

They spent 13 days walking out, slogging through ankle-deep mud most of the way.

Sgt. Peter J. Kunz, 44, of San Francisco, Cal., commander of the unit, told intelligence officers the Japanese nearly caught them once but missed their secret withdrawal by only four hours.

The native Kachin volunteers and Americans spent three days on 24-hour duty guarding vine-tangled jungle paths to cover their escape.

"The enemy four times our strength surrounded the post and we escaped over an 8,000-foot pass," Kunz said. "We were four hours ahead of the Japanese. Three days later support arrived and we retook the post."

Nazis Suffer New Setback Near Orel

MOSCOW — (INS) — The Germans suffered new reverses in the crucial Orel battle sector today when Red army units, defying a move by the Nazi high command to send in reinforcements, launched a strong attack and ousted the Germans from additional strategic positions.

The Soviet assault, said the noon communique of the Red army high command, was launched northwest of Mtsensk, 40 miles northeast of Orel, and resulted in Russian occupation of more advantageous positions.

First reports of the action said 100 Germans were killed and much war material was seized.

The front was ablaze on several sectors with heavy artillery exchanges.

SHELBY BOARD EMPLOYS THREE

Teachers Hired to Instruct In Elementary, High Schools.

SHELBY — Three new teachers have been hired by the Shelby district board of education for next school term.

Miss Wilma Wright of Jewett, O., will succeed Miss Mildred Gortney, who resigned to be married, as vocational home economics instructor at the high school.

Miss Rowena Derr of New Washington, who has been teaching in the Chatfield schools, Crawford county, for the past eight years, was hired as home economics and English teacher in the high school.

Miss Mildred Clark of Shelby was hired for the second grade in the elementary school system.

Successor to L. D. Reynolds, supervising elementary school system, who resigned to accept a position at First National bank, has not been named.

The resignation of Bruce Archdeacon, physics, chemistry and preflight instructor, was announced. Archdeacon is leaving for Ohio Wesleyan university in Delaware, where he will teach navigation. He came to Shelby two years ago from Fairfield County schools.

ARSON REPORTED

Two Cases Cited In Texas Race Rioting.

BEAUMONT, Tex. — (UP) — Two possible cases of arson had been established today as two courts of inquiry continued their investigation into racial rioting Wednesday in which one white man and one Negro were killed.

Meanwhile, Negoes of this gulf coast shipbuilding town contemplated a quiet observance of "Juneteenth"—emancipation day for Texas Negroes—as authorities took extra precautions to prevent any recurrence of trouble.

DANNIE BOONE JOINS WAAC'S

FORT DES MOINES, Ia.—(INS)—A great-great-great granddaughter of the pioneer woodsman, hunter and explorer, Daniel Boone, is a WAAC at the Fort Des Moines training center, it was revealed today.

She is Auxiliary Lucille B. (Dannie) Boone of Dilton, Okla.

A great-uncle in her native Kentucky has traced the family's ancestral tree through court records back to the renowned frontiersman, Miss Boone said.

She was born in the territory Daniel roamed when it was the far west and the "dark and bloody ground"—in Crab Orchard, Ky., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Boone.

SPIKES RUMOR

OPA Says Commercial Vehicles Won't Take Gas Cut.

CLEVELAND — (UP) — The regional Office of Price Administration and the Office of Defense Transportation today reassured commercial vehicle owners that no cut in gasoline for commercial vehicles is planned in the midwest at present.

The denial followed reports from Dayton that a 40 per cent cut in commercial gasoline rations would be put into effect July 1.

PAYS $85 FOR COFFEE

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—(U.P.)—Admitting that he doesn't even consume the amount of coffee which his own ration book allows him, Dr. Victor C. Alderson paid $85 for a pound of coffee at an auction staged by the Kiwanis club. The $85 will go into a victory garden for the La Jolla Boy Scouts, and Dr. Alderson, president emeritus of the Colorado School of Mines, said he would dole out the pound of coffee among friends who feel they are not getting enough.

ALLIED DRIVE ON BURMA SEEN

China in a steady stream for operations to capture bases in eastern China from which to launch air and possibly amphibious operations against Japan itself.

The appointment of Wavell, regarded by the British public as one of the country's ablest and most brilliant military leaders in World war 2, to succeed Lord Linlithgow as viceroy of India was interpreted as further confirmation that the Allies envision India as the major Allied supply base for East Asia.

Though he will not take over the post of viceroy until Linlithgow retires in October, Wavell stepped down immediately from the command of British armies in India and it was announced that he will be succeeded immediately by Gen. Sir Claude John Eyre Auchinleck, who was removed from the British Middle-Eastern command following the German breakthrough to El Alamein in Egypt last summer.

The announcement emphasized that Auchinleck would be entrusted with the home defense of India, internal security and similar tasks with a new commander taking over the operations against Japanese-occupied territory. Wavell has been in charge of both offensive and defensive operations.

Churchill shattered a precedent of more than 80 years in appointing a military man to the viceroyalty, considered second only to the prime minister of Britain as the most important political office in the whole British empire.

As viceroy, the 60-year-old Wavell will rule the destines of India's 390,000,000 inhabitants. Responsible British quarters emphasized that Wavell's military background did not mean that Britain intends to swing over to a "mailed fist" regime in India.

A New Delphi dispatch said that Wavell's appointment insured continuation of Linlithgow's policies and could be taken as confirmation that the question of India's future political status will be shelved for the duration of the war.

DENVER POLICE HUNT HOG THIEF

DENVER—(INS)—As the result of meat rationing a pig thief is on the loose in Denver. Quite an amazing fellow, he nonchalantly enters suburban pig pens, scoops up 100 to 150 pounds of squealing pig and walks away, police reported.

Thefts of chickens, rabbits and pigeons has increased tremendously since meat rationing police said, but pig stealing is something new.

BATSON'S

They Bagged 15 Japs Over Guadalcanal

Two of America's flying heroes in the southwest Pacific, Capt. Thomas G. Lanphier, jr., of Detroit, left, and Maj. John W. Mitchell of Enid, Miss., who shot down 15 Jap planes between them, are shown in Washington talking to the press. The two told their listeners that Jap airmen lack imagination in combat and appear to "fly by rote." While they were being interviewed, the navy announced that American flyers shot down 32 Jap bombers and 15 Zero fighters in one air battle over Guadalcanal, with only six U. S. aircraft lost in the fight.
